Car accident

Wilmington Fire and Police were summoned to Cornell Place off Fordham Road in Wilmington Wednesday afternoon around 11:30 a.m.. A two car accident involved a FED/EX employee whose SUV was turned on its side. WFD had to cut through the sunroof to help get the unidentified woman out of the car. It appeared there were no major injuries. Hats off to the Fire and Police Departments for their quick response.

Historic house at 136 Middlesex Ave. for sale

By LIZZY HILL
News Correspondent

WILMINGTON — After spending the last decade renovating and restoring the house and barn at 136 Middlesex Ave., owner Kathi O'Donoghue is ready to sell. The property located at the corner of School Street and Middlesex was built in 1854. Originally containing pieces of land that would become where the Swayne Green and a new high school would be built, it's now a historic home that O'Donoghue has poured her heart and soul into.

She admits that when she originally bought the property herself, it needed a lot of work.

WCTV news and notes

By SHAUN NEVILLE
WCTV Executive Director

This weekend, it's all about Wilmington High School on WCTV!

You can watch the graduation ceremony on WCTV's Education Channel (Comcast 99/Verizon 39) at 2 p.m. on Sunday. You can also stream the event online at wctv.org/education or watch it through our mobile app. If you download the app, we'll even send a push alert a few minutes before the ceremony is about to begin!

Before we get to graduation, it's Scholarship Night on Friday. Tune into WCTV Education at 6:30 p.m. to see who is taking home big recognitions and awards before heading off to college next year. We'll be handing out a number of WCTV Scholarships to graduating seniors.

Both of these programs will be available to watch on-demand early next week. And if you want a DVD copy, give the station a call.

Our friends over at Billerica Community Television are recording the Shawsheen Tech Graduation and Scholarship Night. Look for them soon on our Education Channel.

A quick reminder that we're conducting our annual survey of the community to get a sense for how you're all watching local content and to figure out ways to improve our efforts. Head to WCTV.org for a link. The survey has been taking an average of four minutes to fill out and we'll be giving away a pair of $25 gift cards to those who leave their contact information at the end.

New Programs:

These air on one of WCTV's 3 television stations (Public: Comcast 9/Verizon 37 - Government: Comcast 22/Verizon 38 - Education: Comcast 99/Verizon 39). You can also watch them at WCTV.org.

- Memorial Day (WCTV Public): We've got lots of material for Memorial Day, including video of the parade courtesy of Robert Hayes and video of the Wildwood Ceremony courtesy of Tom Pazyra. We also have a couple of photo albums on our Facebook page. One is from intern Cam Quinlan. The other is from you! We collected dozens of pictures from the community and put them together for a great compilation of the day.
- WHS Baseball vs. Matignon (WCTV Education): Watch the seniors get recognized ahead of their win on Saturday.
- Spring Chorus Concert (WCTV Education): A night of singing at WHS!
- I-93 Special Delivery (WCTV Public): Hear from the Wilmington officer and dispatcher who helped a dad deliver a baby on the side of the highway!
- Real Estate Talks (WCTV Public): The Parker/Kelley team talks about what you need to know for selling a house.
- Where's Wilmington (WCTV Public): Learn about a hiking program that's aimed at not just kids in Wilmington, but from all over the area!

Check out WCTV.org for more information on when programs will be televised and how you can get involved at your community television station. Membership is free and there's no time commitment.

Produce a show, help in studio or cover a community event that you care about! We're here to make the process as simple as possible.

2018 TAX LAW

— PART IV —

State and local taxes deduction

The total deductible amount is now limited to $10,000, including income, sales, and property taxes.

More deductions that are eliminated

Gone are the deductions for casualty and theft losses (except those attributable to a federally declared disaster); unreimbursed employee expenses; tax preparation expenses; other miscellaneous deductions previously subject to the 2% Adjusted Gross Income cap; moving expenses; employer-subsidized parking and transportation reimbursement.

Itemizing deductions

While we're on the topic of deductions, many of these may now be a moot point, even to taxpayers who have been using them for years. Even though most major deductions are being kept in place, the higher standard deductions will make itemizing not worthwhile for millions of households.

For example, let's say that a married couple pays $7,000 in mortgage interest, makes $3,000 in charitable contributions, pays $4,000 in state and local taxes, and has $6,750 in unreimbursed medical expenses. This adds up to $17,000 in deductions, which when compared with the previous $13,000 standard deduction makes itemizing look like a smart idea.

However, with the new $24,000 standard deduction for married couples, it would no longer be worth it to itemize.

'Readers are very smart'

WILMINGTON — "If you know the obvious thing, they'll know it too." So states author Ray Daniel in the June episode of Book Stew.

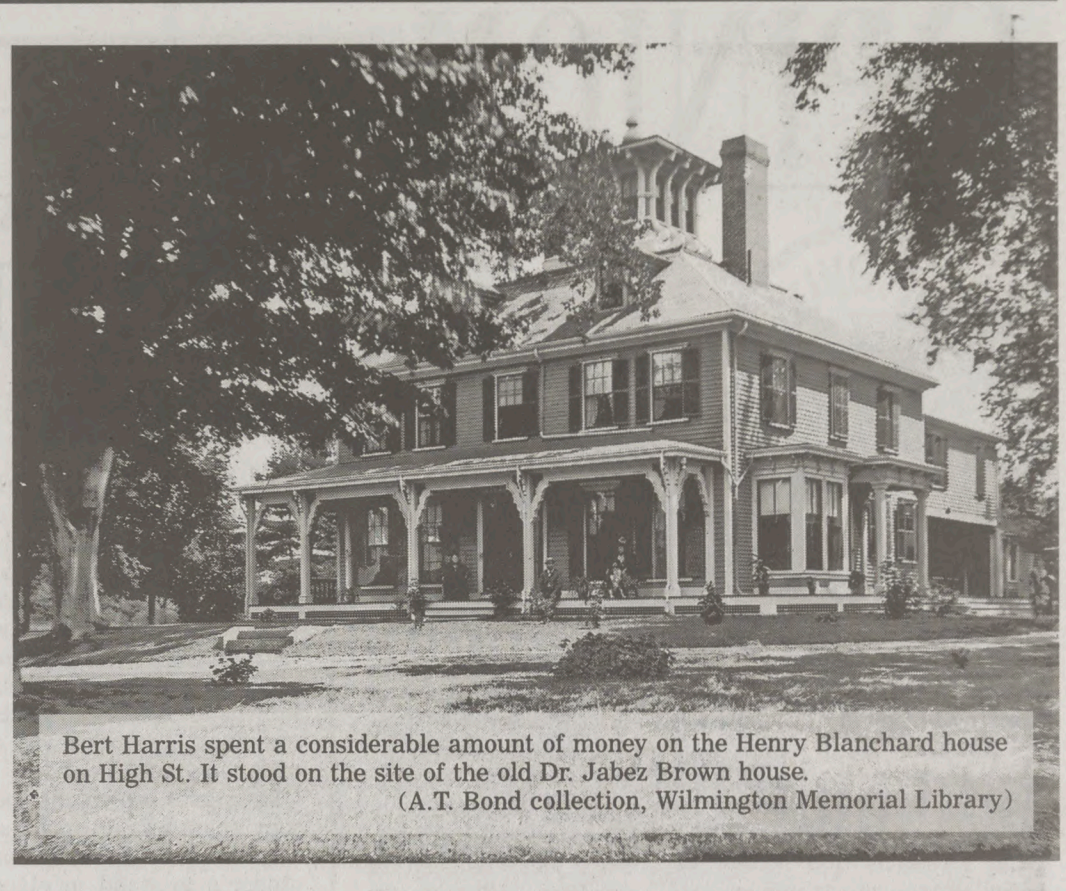

Daniel, who has written the Tucker series of four thrillers set in Boston, is a great admirer of his fellow Bostonians Robert B. Parker and Dennis Lehane. Find out more about his protagonist, a computer nerd who is protected by a female former Mossad agent and has two hermit crabs for pets.

In the first book in the series, Tucker loses his job and his wife by murder in what would have to be anyone's Worst Day Ever.

Please check out this new Book Stew episode on WCTV on Tuesdays at 1 p.m., Wednesdays at 8 p.m., Friday at 7 p.m., and Saturday at noon. History:

Wilmington yarns - 'No war in the happy days of yore'

By PAUL D. EMMONS
(Written c.1940)

The happy days of yore, when nobody thought of war, and all the world was calm and clear, with homes serene both far and near.

If I were a poet (which I am not) that is the way I should epitomize Wilmington in the late 1880's and the "gay 90's," especially in the north part, which became a playground for a congenial group of young people who cut quite a dash in those sedate horse and buggy days.

Outstanding among them were the Haleys and their relatives of the Harris family. Edwin L Haley built what later became the Coombs' at 464 Middlesex Ave. His brother, William H. Haley of the well-known Boston firm of Dodge, Haley & Co., owned what was later known as Knollwood Farm on Andover Street. Another brother, Charles Haley, lived in what later became the Jolly home, 26 High St.

Incidentally, in the old days, the thickly settled portion of the town around "Buck's corner" at the end of Wildwood Street, was known as "the city," and High Street, when it began to build up, was known as "the new city."

William H. Haley had married a rich widow, Lucy Harris, for his second wife. There were three Harris step-children who had inherited money from their father. They proceeded to paint North Wilmington red with it, while it lasted.

The oldest son, Will Harris, owned what is now Sciarappa's place. He went in for mustangs. I can remember seeing a whole herd of them, driven by cowboys, going past our house on their way to Andover Street.

At a later date, his brother, Bert Harris had the Henry Blanchard place on High Street, and spent a lot of money on it. He used to walk around with a checkbook sticking out of the breast pocket of his sport shirt.

Both the Harris boys had very pretty wives who drove handsome turnouts but were considerably outshone by their sister-in-law, Mrs. Annie Pedrius, a very handsome brunette who was reputed to be a very close friend of Eben D. Jordan's, and whose coachman, McTighe, boasted that Jordan paid him his wages.

She drove a snappy rig consisting of a high-wheeled, shiny dog cart, drawn by a high-stepping tandem, the wheel horse jet-black and the leader a striking dapple grey. Everybody had to drive to the station in those days, and there was usually quite a collection of equine pulchritude at train time. The old railroad depot had a platform running across the front of it so that carriages, cabrioles, democrat wagons, dog carts, buggies, barouches and what-have-you could draw up and disembark their passengers for Boston.

Eventually the Harris crowd lost their money and left town, but the other younger set, who had never mixed with them very much, continued to have a good time. Golf hadn't come into vogue, but croquet of a highly scientific slant, tennis, baseball and picnics furnished the outdoor relaxation. Indoors, there were card parties, dances, private theatricals and billiards. We had a large professional-size billiard table in our attic. Here men used to wield their cues in the evening, while the women folk sat around and played whist.

Downstairs we could use our large living room for an auditorium and fix up the dining room opening out it through a spacious pair of sliding doors for a stage.

Neighborhood talent produced three or four good plays, notable among them being "The Two Buzzards," in which my brother Harry and sister Jennie played the leading roles.

No invidious implications intended, the family fireworks were confined to those we set off annually on the night before the Fourth of July across the street from our house. Pinwheels swirled in a shower of sparks on the trees lining the road; rockets zoomed high over the Blanchard pasture, while bunches of exploding firecrackers and multi-colored flares lighted up the neighbors who had gathered on our front piazza to watch the fun.

Those were the good old days. More about them in our next issue.

Middlesex Sheriff's Office celebrates third Special Citizens Academy

CHELMSFORD — Over 20 local residents joined Middlesex Sheriff Peter J. Koutoujian on May 23 to celebrate their graduation from the Middlesex Sheriff's Office (MSO) Special Citizens Academy. The free, four week program is specifically designed for adults with developmental disabilities who have an interest in public safety.

"This Academy gives these members of our community an opportunity to meet and interact with deputies, corrections officers and other law enforcement in an educational environment," said Sheriff Koutoujian. "Seeing the smiles on the cadets' faces as they learn from these professionals is heartwarming, and their enthusiasm is simply infectious."

Cadets at the Academy attended classes on issues such as Internet Safety and Awareness; Fire Safety and First Aid; and Scam Prevention. They also witnessed demonstrations from the MSO and National Park Service K-9 Units and met members of the MSO's Special Operations and Command Center staffs.

Families and local officials were invited to attend the graduation at the MSO Training Academy in Chelmsford, where cadets heard from Sheriff Koutoujian and Chris Scott, Executive Director of the Valley Collaborative in Billerica.

The next Academy is already scheduled for fall 2018; interested participants and caregivers can contact Community Affairs Director Ken Doucette at 978-495-7408 to register for the program.

Notice of Vegetation Management Control Operations

The Town of Wilmington will be selectively spraying herbicides along roadsides within Town owned Rights of Way, pursuant to 333 CMR 11.05-11.07 Rights of Way Management, as defined in the Town's five-year Vegetation Management Plan (VMP) for 2014-2018 and Yearly Operations Plan (YOP) for 2018. This treatment is conducted as a component of an integrated vegetation management program which also utilizes mechanical and natural control techniques to control roadside weeds and invasive vegetation.

Foliar treatments and cut stump applications using herbicides approved for use near sensitive areas will take place between June 4, 2018 and October 19, 2018. The exact time is dependent upon weather conditions and field crew availability. Treatments will be made by Wilmington DPW licensed / certified applicators using the herbicides listed in the Yearly Operations Plan, as referenced on the Wilmington DPW's Tree Division / Vegetation Management website at http://wilmingtonma.gov/Pages/WilmingtonMA_PublicWorks/tree.

Technical questions related to the treatment program, VMP, or YOP may be directed to DPW Operations Manager Jamie Magaldi at 978-658-4481, 121 Glen Road, Wilmington, MA 01887.

OPINION

Letters to the editor

Impeach Judge Feeley

To the editor,

I never heard of Judge Timothy Feeley until recently. However, from what I have gathered by reading about him is that he's far too easy on convicted criminals. What I read is that he ignored a prosecutor's request to give a drug dealer jail time because he was simply supporting his family with the money he made from selling drugs and there was a chance he may have been deported.

In my humble opinion, that's crazy. As a sitting member of the Wilmington Board of Selectmen, I requested that our board send a letter to our legislative delegation to be opposed to State Senator Eldridge to file legislation making our state a safe haven for illegal immigrants, especially those who commit heinous crimes to our citizens.

As a candidate for State Representative, I'm opposed to cities in the state providing safe havens for illegal immigrants. I did state that we can't kick out 15-20 million illegal aliens and the federal government needs to address this issue. However, illegal aliens who commit crimes against our citizens need to be deported.

Don't get me wrong, there are millions of immigrants that are law abiding and do care for our country like my grandfather who came to this country from Sicily. For those people, there should be a pathway to citizenship. This same judge reduced the bail on John Williams, who was arrested for having, in possession, a firearm. Judge Feeley reduced his bail and he was set free.

Shortly thereafter, John Williams did the unthinkable and killed a deputy in Maine. As a candidate for State Representative, I do support capital punishment. Not only should it apply to those criminals who brutally kill our men and women who are police officers, firefighters, and EMT's, but also should apply to those who kill any citizen.

If someone rapes and kills a member of my family or your family, the death penalty should apply. We need more oversight and better checks and balances in our state government when these violent criminals only get a slap on the wrist. I firmly and unequivocally support Representative Jim Lyons' petition to impeach Judge Feeley.

Thank you,
Michael V. McCoy

Who judges the judges - to elect them or appoint them?

To the editor,

Over the last few days there has been great media coverage of a long-time issue here in Massachusetts: the release of repeatedly violent criminals who have continued to live a life of crime. Most recently Judge Tim Feeley released Manuel Soto-Vittini, a longtime heroin dealer, by claiming his crimes were financially based, as if it was similar to providing bread to his family.

This, of course, ignores all those who potentially overdosed or had their lives destroyed by Soto-Vittini's poison. Only a few weeks before Massachusetts lost one of its finest, Officer Sean Gannon. This was by a criminal who started dealing drugs and robbing individuals as a teenager, and deserves no mention by name.

I could continue listing heartbreaking issues such as these, but it would take up far too much space. What is apparent is the system needs to be examined.

Over the next few weeks you'll likely hear a pitch that sounds good, and appears to be a silver bullet when it comes to oversight on judges ruling. This, of course, is directly elected judges. There are many aspects of this touted to be better, such as accountability to the general public, which Massachusetts currently lacks.

However, when one looks closer at this issue, many issues and flaws with this suggestion also come to late. In fact, elected judges were first brought to the ballot early last century to increased judicial independence, striking down more laws than many who preceded them and upholding criminal accountability by following the rule of law, rather than letting certain folks off due to political patronage.

Over the past century, this system has completely reversed itself and when measured, has become more corrupt than appointed judges.

Professor Jed Shugerman, a graduate of the top-ranked Yale Law School and now a professor at Fordham, did a terrific in-depth study of elected judges that eventually he published into a book. Through his research he found out that since elected judges must appeal to contributors, judicial rulings become compromised when certain favorable parties appear before the bench.

In addition, elected judges have a much higher percentage of their rulings overturned by superior courts, showing that elected judicial authorities choose the correct ruling at rates below those of an appointed counterpart. This research has been since confirmed by Emory University, NYU, and the non-partisan Constitution Center.

In Michigan, a battleground state with an even split among Democrats and Republicans, over 13 million dollars was contributed to judge campaigns. With that sort of money floating around, how can justice be fair from either side?

So what can we do to clean up our act here in Massachusetts? Long-time, Reagan-appointed Supreme Court Justice Sandra Day-O'Connor actually has a brilliant, common-sense solution. First appoint like Massachusetts does, then wait and let the judge work.

After a certain term, Justice Day-O'Connor suggests, have voters elect these judges back to power if they are doing a good job in the eyes of the public. This hybrid plan is ingenious for several reasons. Political appointments are often more-vetted and experienced, guaranteeing a higher quality of judgeship that elected states fail to maintain.

In addition, the removal of any ballot races aside from accountability removes the potential corruption that money donated to judges would otherwise risk. When a judge's term is up, say every seven years as suggest by Justice Day-O'Connor, voters face a simple choice based on the judge's track record and no more. There are no competitors and no need to raise money, it's time to send them back to the bench or for the Governor and their council to pick a new appointee.

This balanced, while sensible, approach would bring to Massachusetts what we in the state need: accountability. In addition to allowing us regular folks to hold those in government accountable, it preserves the higher quality of rulings that the majority of judges, who tend to do a good job overall, bring to the courts.

In addition, it insulates us from potential corruption that many elected judges show, and ensures that in several years we won't be reading about an elected judge because they let off the relative of their largest donor, who actually was "only selling heroin to get by."

Tewksbury Memorial High School
SENIOR PROJECT EXPO

By MATT FRONDUTO
TMHS Correspondent

After months of hard work and dedication, the Senior Project Expo was finally opened to the students and staff of Tewksbury Memorial High School, and the hard work of several seniors who embarked on their individual Senior Projects was finally rewarded with a satisfying payoff.

The senior project, as you may know, was an opportunity presented to senior students to stand in place of their fourth quarter non-AP classes — even allowing them to miss their finals. Students who opted to take this course of action were requested to either secure an internship, externship, or otherwise engage in a program that would provide the opportunity to better themselves.

During the first, third, and fifth weeks of their programs, students were required to check in with their designated teacher advisor who would monitor the progress they made, ensuring the students' productivity.

To further ensure that the participants would stay on course during their projects, the seniors were made to present the results of their projects to a board comprised of various administrators, guidance counselors, and teachers, who would approve the project and allow it to be presented in the public exhibition weeks later.

The results of such hard work and dedication were genuinely shocking to some, as despite the many skeptics of the Senior Project program — primarily those who thought that it may just facilitate some students' ability to neglect their academic obligations — the exhibition proved the project to be a brilliant success.

Whether it be an externship on a Massachusetts Senate campaign, designing and engaging in a rigorous baseball training regiment, or even ascertaining official certification as an EMT, the range and scope of different projects and expeditions was truly inspiring.

As students set up the poster boards and PowerPoints around the gymnasium, teachers were permitted to bring their underclassmen classes down to the expo, in an effort to both familiarize them with the process, as well as to help them decide whether or not the senior project would be a worthwhile experience for them, personally.

Attending the expo, it was clear just how much care and effort had been poured into the projects around the gymnasium, and it was truly brilliant to see what the hard work of a few dozen senior students can achieve. For all underclassmen who may be looking to see if the senior project experience is for them, speak with one of the program's alum, and you may just get a feel for what the program entails.

Extension filers can start with IRS.gov to find answers to tax questions

Taxpayers have tax questions at various times of the year. This summer, many taxpayers who received an extension might have questions about the 2017 tax returns they are filing. Here are tools and resources on the IRS website that can help these taxpayers find the help they need:

Researching an answer to a tax question

• The Interactive Tax Assistant asks a series of questions and provides answers based on a taxpayer's input.

• Publication 17 covers the general rules for filing a federal income tax return.

Checking on a refund status

• The online Where's My Refund? tool allows taxpayers to check the status of a tax refund for the most current tax year they filed.

• The audio version of Where's My Refund? is available by calling 800-829-1954.

Making a payment

• IRS.gov/account lets taxpayers securely access information about their federal tax account. They can view the amount they owe, access their tax records online, and review the past 18 months of payment history.

• IRS Direct Pay is a free, secure way to pay online directly from a checking or savings account.

• The Electronic Federal Tax Payment System has online and phone options.

• The IRS2Go app allows taxpayers to pay online, by phone or with a mobile device and get instant payment confirmation.

Getting forms and publications

• All IRS forms, instructions and publications are available on the IRS.gov website, which continues to be the best way to access them.

Plan ahead for vacation home rentals

During the summer, taxpayers often rent out their property. They usually think about things such as clean-up and maintenance, but owners also need to be aware of the tax implications of residential and vacation home rentals.

If taxpayers receive money for the use of a house that's also used as a taxpayer's personal residence, it generally requires reporting the rental income on a tax return.

• Vacation Home. This may be a house, an apartment, condominium, mobile home, boat, vacation home or similar property. It's possible to use more than one unit as a residence during the year.

• Used as a Home. When the property is used as a home, the rental expense deduction is limited. This means the rental expenses cannot be more than the rent received.

• Personal Use. Personal use means use by the owner, owner's family, friends, other property owners and their families. Personal use includes anyone paying less than a fair rental price.

• Divide Expenses. Generally, special rules apply to the rental expenses of a property that's used by the taxpayer as a residence during the taxable year. Usually, rental income must be reported in full, and any expenses need to be divided between personal and business purposes.

• How to Report. Taxpayers use Schedule E to report rental income and rental expenses. Rental income may also be subject to Net Investment Income Tax.

• Special Rules. If the home unit is rented out fewer than 15 days during the year, none of the rental income is reportable and none of the rental expenses are deductible.

Letter to the editor

Buckley already working to keep Tewksbury 'town we know and love'

To the editor,

Beyond the flash and attention of our current State Rep. campaign, there is the job of actual governance. On the municipal level the bulk of this work falls onto relatively unknown officials — this is where Erin Buckley is already doing a great job for us.

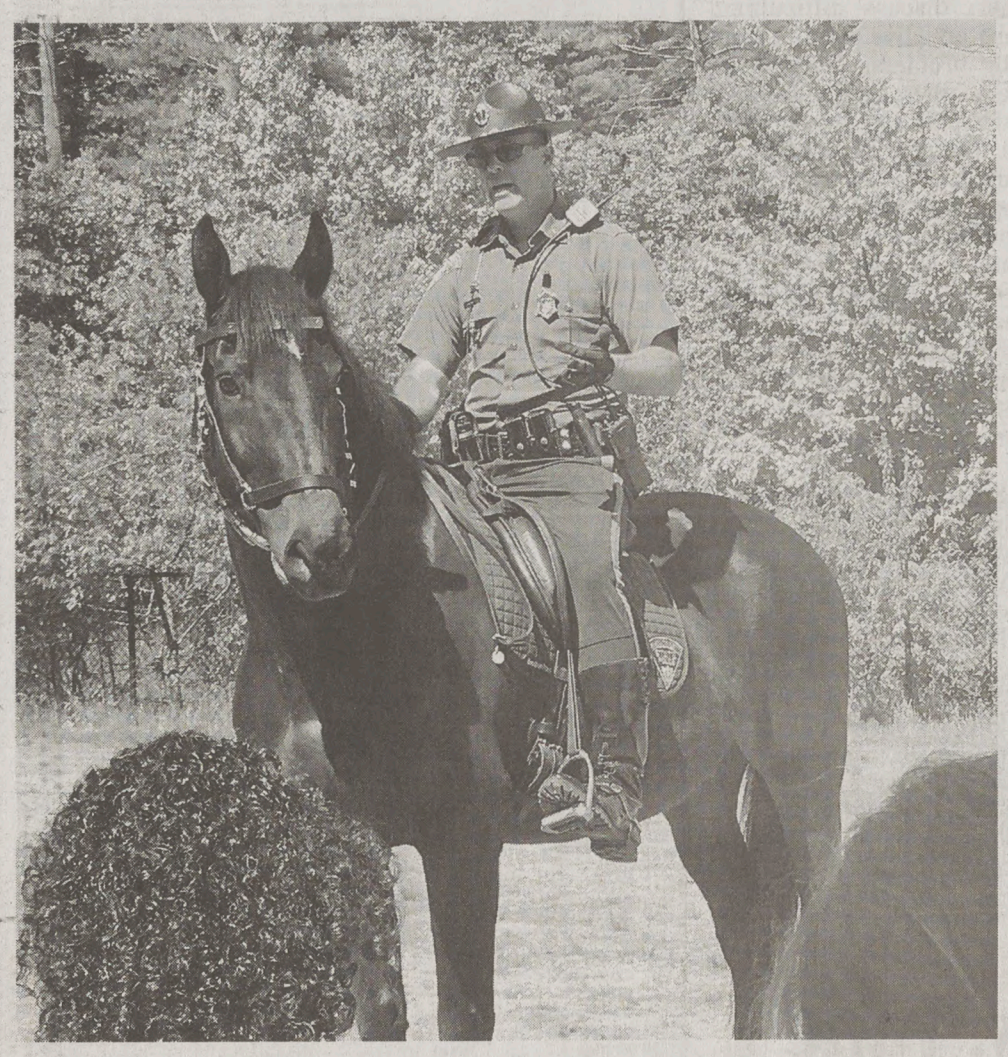

I have seen her work on both the Finance Committee and Local Housing Partnership first-hand. My neighborhood was directly affected by the now defunct Astle St. project. Everyone I spoke with saw this as a monstrous development and a clear cut case of overdevelopment — but would anyone in town government speak-up? Erin Buckley did.

From questioning the developer in a sound and professional manner to casting a message-sending abstaining vote at the Local Housing Partnership meeting, Erin puts her money where a lot of mouths claim to be.

Erin Buckley is already working to keep Tewksbury the town we know and love and she will undoubtedly do the same for Wilmington. We have the opportunity to give her the platform she has earned, both with her work here in town and her work already accomplished on Beacon Hill.

We have this special opportunity to put our best interests in the State House; it's an opportunity we cannot afford to miss. Vote Erin Buckley for State Rep.

'Career Day' at John F. Ryan School in Tewksbury

TEWKSBURY — On Thursday, May 24, the John F. Ryan hosted their annual "Career Day."

There were a few dozen people representing a wide variety career options.

From the Library, Medical/Dental/Pharmacology Fields, Construction, Finance/Business, Engineering, Health, Photography, Retail, Technology/Cyber Security, Fire Departments, Police/Detectives and more.

While ALL speakers gave informative and engaging presentations the favorite may have been "Captain" — the partner of State Trooper Mike Crowley, of the Mounted Unit in Acton.

Mike's youngest daughter Abby was on hand to make sure all went according to plan.

Hermann promoted to police sergeant

WILMINGTON — Chief Michael Begonis is pleased to announce the promotion of Brian Hermann to the position of Sergeant.

Sergeant Hermann joined the Wilmington Police Department in 2003. During his tenure as a Wilmington Police Officer he served not only as a Patrol Officer, but spent several years as the Wilmington High School Resource Officer and as a Traffic Officer.

Prior to becoming a full time police officer, Sgt. Hermann spent three years as a Wilmington Public Safety Dispatcher.

Chief Begonis stated in an announcement to department personnel, "I am confident that Sergeant Hermann will fulfill his new role with the utmost professionalism and detail to duty while espousing the department's core values of commitment, compassion, and respect."

All of the members of the Wilmington Police Department congratulate Sgt. Hermann on his promotion and wish him well in his new role.

Dinovo sentenced to nearly six years for bank robbery

BOSTON — Russell Dinovo, 52, has been sentenced to nearly six years in prison for a bank robbery that took place in Boston back in October 2015.

U.S. District Court Judge Richard Stearns sentenced the Wilmington resident to 57 months (and five years of supervised release) after Dinovo plead guilty to one count of armed robbery.

Dinovo, along with Anthony Pantone who also plead guilty back in August 2016, entered the Hingham Institue for Savings in Boston, according to the US Attorney's Office. He then, prosecutors said, jumped over the teller counter, opened two registers, grabbed money, and put it in a duffel bag.

The Wilmington resident then demanded an employee open the vault. Once inside, Dinovo took money from the vault.

Prosecutors also mentioned that Pantone appeared to be holding a gun.

The two were eventually caught with the duffel bag full of money and an airsoft gun attempting to escape in a cab.

Pantone was sentenced to 78 months.

K1 Speed: Millions of Racers Can't Be Wrong

When K1 Speed was established in 2003, its objective was to offer an accessible - yet authentic - racing experience in a safe, comfortable, and uniquely state-of-the-art environment that pleased both enthusiasts and amateurs alike.

The company was a pioneer of 100% electric indoor go-kart racing when it opened its doors for the first time in Southern California and paved the way for 30 more locations nationwide as popularity increased. As a result, millions of racers have now experienced K1 Speed.

The electric karts mean there's no noxious exhaust fumes filling their facilities and they accelerate faster than the gas-counterparts - handy for the tight corners often found in go-kart circuits. The go-karts propel racers to speeds of up to 45 miles per hour, which feels like over 100 mph when you're driving just inches off the ground.

K1 Speed in Wilmington exemplifies what a K1 Speed venue is all about. Inside, you'll find a museum-worthy collection of racing memorabilia displayed in a modern, polished setting.

There are two different tracks located inside the building: one that is approachable enough for children 48" or taller, and another track that presents some more challenges more appropriate for older racers, 58" or taller.

K1 Speed makes for a perfect entertainment destination. Their two meeting rooms and available catering means they're an excellent choice for hosting unique birthday parties and company functions alike.

Off-track the excitement continues with an arcade and traditional games such as air-hockey and billiards. The on-site Pit Café serves up refreshing beverages and tasty snacks to refuel in between race sessions.

K1 Speed is open seven days a week, and racers do not need to make any reservations to enjoy go-karting at K1 Speed, Wilmington - just arrive and drive for an experience like nothing else.

Austin Prep summer programs
Austin Preparatory School in Reading is offering sports clinics and unique filmmaking classes as part of its summer program, Summer At Austin.
Programs are open to everyone — you do not need to be an Austin Prep student.
Several filmmaking and directing classes for students entering grades 6-12 are offered, and all skill levels accepted. Students will learn how to use industry-standard cameras and software to master elements of cinematography, lighting, and editing through a variety of short film projects. More advanced filmmaking students will prove their mastery by teaching and directing students in the introductory course on how to use the equipment and how to compose effective films.
There are numerous sports clinics being offered, including softball, lacrosse, cross country, football, and soccer. All skill levels are welcome, and there are offerings for students entering grades 3-12.
Go to www.AustinPrep.org/SummerAtAustin to check out the school's summer offerings. Questions may be directed to Jocelyn O'Sullivan at 781.944.4900 x777 or josullivan@austinprep.org.

RMLD asks customers to 'Shred the Peak'

READING — Reading Municipal Light Department (RMLD) is expanding its Shred the Peak campaign from the one hour of highest peak demand each year, which typically occurs in the summer months from 2 p.m. - 7 p.m., to also include the one hour of highest peak demand each month. Peak demand electricity comes at a premium cost and affects all customer bills.

The success of Shred the Peak depends heavily on customer participation. RMLD customers can help Shred the Peak by taking the following steps:

1. SIGN UP FOR SHRED THE PEAK ALERTS. Peaks are predicted based on historical trends and weather. RMLD will send out an alert via email (sign up at http://bit.ly/shredthepeaksignup) and on Twitter (follow RMLD @Reading Light) the day before a predicted event. RMLD will also post the alert on RMLD.com and send it to the local community television stations.

2. CONSERVE DURING THE PREDICTED PEAK: Turn off lights and electronics when they're not needed, postpone using washers, dryers, dishwashers, and pool pumps until after the predicted peak window, raise the temperature setting on your air conditioner by a few degrees (from 70 to 74, for example), and cook dinner on the grill.

Please help RMLD Shred the Peak! For more information, visit http://www.rmld.com/.

Walker graduates from the University of Vermont

BURLINGTON, VT — Blake Walker of Wilmington graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree in Public Communication during commencement ceremonies on May 20, 2018, at the University of Vermont.

The university conferred degrees this year on an estimated 3,055 graduates, including 2,443 bachelor's, 387 master's, 112 doctoral and 113 medical degree recipients. Among expected degree recipients are students from 43 states and 204 international students from 35 foreign countries. Approximately 1,021 graduates are from Vermont.

Alexander Nemerov, alumnus and one of the nations' leading art historians and scholar of cultural history, delivered the address.

Wilmington, Tewksbury students graduate Austin Prep

READING — Choose your actions wisely, use your gifts to help others, and be sure to appreciate the joy in everyday life was the advice the 142 graduates of Austin Preparatory School received during commencement exercises on May 20.

Their "joy" began at baccalaureate Mass on May 19, as the graduates, parents, faculty and leadership of Austin Prep, when asked by the Rev. Ray Dlugos to "show your joy," responded with thunderous applause and cheers. Rev. Dlugos of Andover is Vice President of Mission and Ministry at Merrimack College and an Austin Prep Trustee.

The school's headmaster, Dr. James Hickey of Andover, learned the same valuable lesson about joy from his grandmother.

"Whatever you do make sure to find or — even better — create fun, and joy will certainly follow," Dr. Hickey said. "Be intentional about it, make time for it, otherwise 'life' will get in the way of living a 'happy life.' "

In addition to technical skills, every person has "Human to Human," or "Heart to Heart" skills which are more important, as those skills define us, Mrs. Barbara Marchetti, the graduation keynote speaker, told the graduates.

Marchetti is the founder and president of C-suite Corporation, a retained executive search firm which specializes in the talent acquisition of executives from the C-suite down to the director levels. She has more than 30 years of experience impacting the executive infrastructure of business and industry, and is an internationally known business strategist, trainer and public speaker who has worked with hundreds of companies and thousands of executives globally. Marchetti is an Austin Prep Trustee and parent of an alumnus from the class of 2017.

Her sentiment was echoed by the class of 2018 valedictorian Caitlyn Leonard of Peabody, who remarked that as adults they should choose their actions carefully.

"We will be defined in our everyday actions — and those actions we make are our choice," Caitlyn said. "So, will we choose to be defined by our open hearts? Our service to our country or community? Our love for our family and friends? Our hard work and determination? Our commitment to our faith? As we walk through those doors, we each have a choice, but as Austin Prep graduates I know the choice we will all make."

"Take the pen and write your own story," Bridget Kelley of Melrose, class of 2018 salutatorian, told her fellow graduates. "Continue to make it a story of kindness, of spirit, of dedication, of acceptance, and of a love for life. I think that we as a class have already changed the world, because you have changed me, and we have changed each other, for the better."

All 142 graduates were accepted to numerous four-year colleges and universities. Congratulations to the following:

TEWKSBURY

- Mackenzie Barrall will attend Hobart and William Smith Colleges in the fall. She received the Medal for Art and Design.
- Paige D'Ambrosio will attend Suffolk University in the fall. She received the Charles L. Luciano Memorial Award for Unsung Student Loyalty and the Medal for Art and Design.
- Cameron O'Hearn will attend Boston College in the fall. He received the Medal for French and the Medal for Business and Economics.
- Erika Paone will attend the University of Massachusetts Lowell in the fall.
- Braedon Parece will attend the University of Houston in the fall.
- Kyle Spiller will attend Tennessee State University in the fall.

WILMINGTON

- Katelyn Ardito will attend Saint Anselm College in the fall.
- Dylan Arnold will attend Xavier University in the fall.
- Joshua Bartnicki will attend Northeastern University in the fall. He received the Charles and Helen McLaughlin Medal for Leadership and Determination to Excel — Austin Prep's highest award — as well as the Medal for Mathematics and the Medal for Physical Science.
- Thomas Burnham will attend Tufts University in the fall. He received the Medal for History.

A PRAYER TO THE BLESSED VIRGIN

(never known to fail)

O Most beautiful Flower of Mount Carmel, Fruitful Vine, Splendor of Heaven, Blessed Mother of the Son of God, Immaculate Virgin, assist me in this my necessity. O, Star of the Sea, help me and show me, you are my Mother.

O Holy Mary, Mother of God, Queen of Heaven and Earth, I humbly beseech you from the bottom of my heart to succor me in this necessity (Make requests). There are none that can withstand your power.

O Mary, conceived without sin, pray for us who have recourse to Thee. (3 times)

Holy Mother, I place this cause in your hands. (3 times)

Say for 3 consecutive days and publish. God Bless

12 students graduate from Fitchburg State University

FITCHBURG — Fitchburg State University recently held its 122nd commencement exercises, graduate and undergraduate spring ceremonies.

The address at the undergraduate ceremony was delivered by Brig. Gen. Frederick A. Henry, U.S. Army, retired, a 1984 alumnus.

President Richard S. Lapidus also recognized Kristen Ann Windoloski of Easthampton as the undergraduate valedictorian. The mathematics major will continue her education with a full scholarship to a master's and doctorate program at North Carolina State University.

The President's Medal was awarded to Our Father's House, a social service agency serving the homeless in Northern Worcester County.

Michelle Downey of North Andover received the Graduate Student Leadership Award in recognition of her work during the pursuit of a master's degree in special education.

In all, the university conferred more than 700 graduate and undergraduate degrees this spring.

Hurley graduates from University of Connecticut

STORRS, CT — Erin Hurley has graduated Magna Cum Laude from UConn. She graduated with honors with a major in Cognitive Science and minors in both Neuroscience and Psychology.

Erin completed her four years at UConn having made the Dean's list every semester. She earned acceptance to The Alpha Lambda Delta Honor Society and she received an honors medal at the Honors Medal Ceremony at Conn.

Erin was recently inducted into the Phi Beta Kappa Society. Each Phi Beta Kappa chapter invites up to 10 percent of its institution's liberal arts graduates to become lifetime members of Phi Beta Kappa, making this one of the most selective invitation processes in the nation.

The ideal Phi Beta Kappa member has demonstrated intellectual integrity, tolerance for other views, and a broad range of academic interests.

Erin will be attending graduate school at the University of Texas San Antonio where she will be pursuing her Ph.D. in Neurobiology.

Giandomenico graduates from Marist College

POUGHKEEPSIE — Nena Giandomenico of Tewksbury received a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration from Marist College the weekend of May 18.

Marist educates approximately 5,000 traditional-age undergraduate students and 1,400 adult and graduate students in 47 undergraduate majors and numerous graduate programs, including fully online MBA, MPA, MS, and MA degrees.

Richards graduates from WPI

WORCESTER — On Saturday, May 12, on the Worcester Polytechnic Institute (WPI) campus quadrangle, over 1,000 bachelor's degrees were awarded during the university's 150th commencement ceremony. Amanda Richards of Wilmington was awarded a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering with distinction.

The keynote address was given by Margot Lee Shetterly, author of Hidden Figures: The American Dream, and the Untold Story of the Black Women Mathematicians Who Helped Win the Space Race.

Shetterly told the graduates that the problems they will be asked to solve "will demand your skills as a professional, but they'll also require you to draw on your deepest well of humanity," saying that science and the humanities are "both rooted in the same motivation, which is to measure and understand the nature of the world, and to make the human world a better place."

During the ceremony, Shetterly received an honorary doctor of humane letters degree, and Philip Ryan '65, former chairman of the Board of Trustees who served as interim president of WPI in 2013-14, received an honorary doctor of engineering degree.

In her remarks, President Leshin reminded members of the Class of 2018 that she had arrived on campus when they did, having begun her presidency just a few weeks before their move-in day in 2014.

Leshin concluded by telling the graduates, "With your talent and your WPI education, we know that you will do well in your career, and do well for your families. My charge to you, Undergraduate Class of 2018, is that you also be sure to do good- for your community, for your nation, for the planet, and for all those who will follow in your footsteps."

Visit GEORGE'S GARDEN in Washington, D.C.

Hydrangeas in the Garden Court at the United States Botanic Garden in Washington, DC

By PAIGE IMPINK
News Correspondent
paige@yourtowncrier.com

The United States Botanic Garden is a terrific stop during any Washington, D.C. visit. Take a break from the museums and stroll through a different type of collection, one that is calming, diverse, and immersive.

George Washington had wanted a botanic garden in the hub of the new nation and, through an act of Congress in 1820, created a place where plant specimens from all types of ecosystems and regions of the world could be displayed for the public to see.

According to its website, the garden contains approximately 65,000 plants. The USBG shares plants with other institutions for research and conservation and is also a rescue center for plants that may be discovered at border crossings, smuggled in illegally. Education is at the heart of the botanic garden's mission and the many interpretive signs, interactive exhibits and online resources provide extensive information for all levels of interest.

The garden is also home to the giant corpse flower, a native of Sumatra, which blooms on an unpredictable schedule and gives off a terrible stink when it does. The USBG has three corpse flowers which bloomed simultaneously in 2017 — a first of its kind event in North America.

According to Devin Dotson, Public Affairs and Exhibit Specialist, if one of their specimens of Amorphophallus titanium is going to bloom, it will probably be in August, but there are no guarantees. Videos of the giant flower can be seen on the Garden website, and you can also enjoy a virtual tour of the property while you are at it.

The 83-year-old limestone building has a center dome with wings on either side, housing water features and a conservatory which has a tropical plant collection and a canopy walk. Visitors may ascend through the trees to get close to vines, climbing plants, and flowers from the rainforest.

Benches provide a quick rest or a way to just inhale the scents and bask in the humid climate momentarily. On the day we visited it was chilly outside, so the tropical temperatures were welcomed.

Other plant habitats include a seasonal Southern garden, a collection of medicinal plants, desert landscapes, a children's garden and gorgeous orchids. East and west galleries offer art spaces of plant inspired works.

A special outdoor garden provides another place to sit and escape the crowds while gathering ideas for the home gardener, including a butterfly garden and the First Ladies Water Garden.

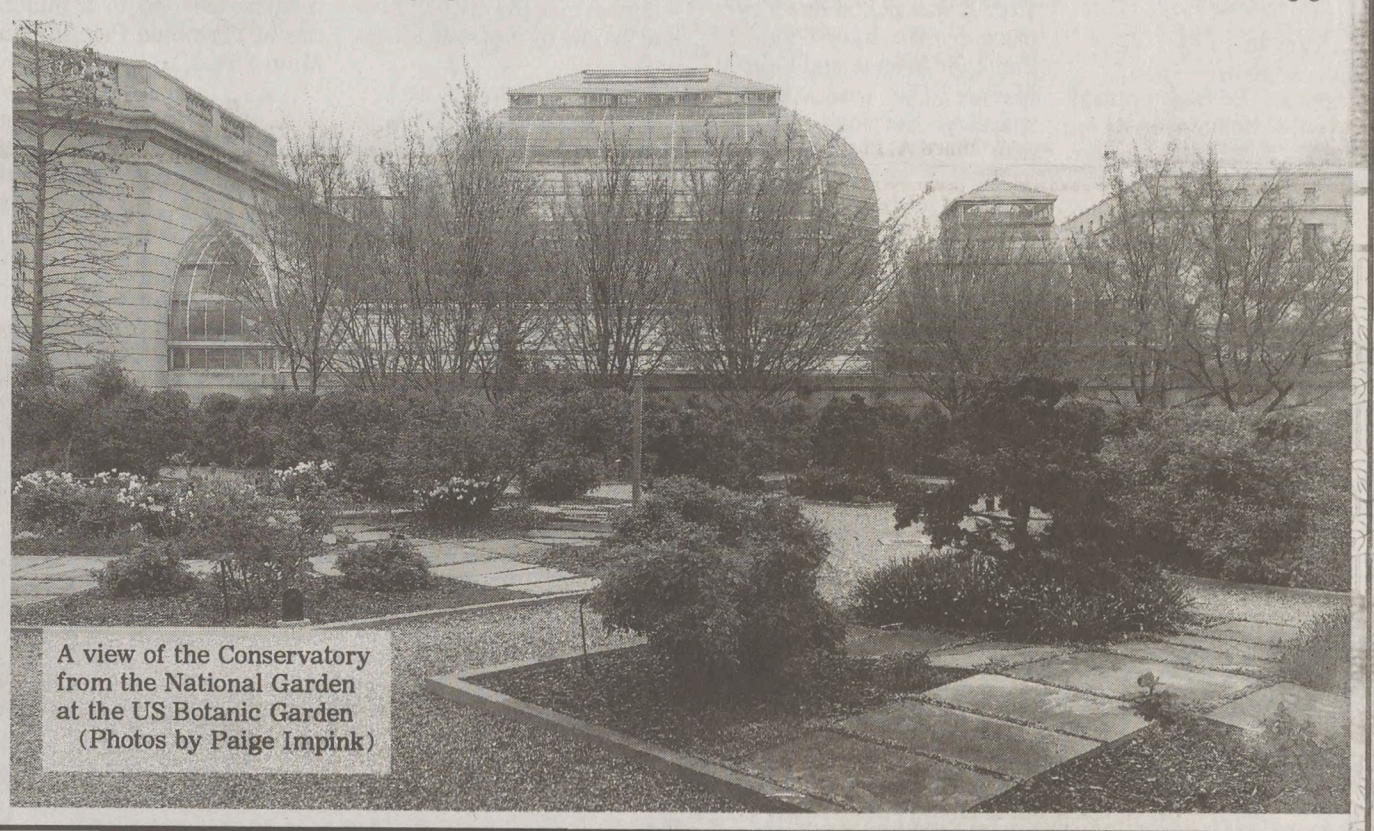

Across the street is Bartholdi Park where the famous Fountain of Light and Water is the centerpiece, an illuminated fountain which was built in 1932. Numerous programs are offered through the day and after hours including cooking demonstrations, an outdoor summer concert series and a special holiday concert performance.

The botanic garden is supported by a large offsite greenhouse operation which grows plants for the exhibits and also has "rare and endangered species," according to their website. Extensive planting information is available online including an outline of their sustainable practices and details about pollinators and native plant species, and even a searchable database of plants.

The garden is easily accessed via foot from other popular Washington attractions on the mall. There are also many parking spaces right outside and parking on Sundays is free — a great tip if you get there early and park then walk to some other nearby museums, otherwise public transportation is strongly recommended.

There is no admission charge to enjoy the botanic garden but be aware that there is no food option on site. Visitors seeking a snack can try one of the nearby buildings such as the National Museum of the American Indian, the National Gallery of Art, cafeterias in the Congressional House Office Buildings or in the U.S. Capitol.

Election signs on private property not allowed

WILMINGTON — It has been brought to the town's attention that election signs for the September state primary have been placed on private property throughout Town. That practice conflicts with Chapter 5 section 4 of the Town of Wilmington Inhabitant By-Laws which addresses the timing for display of political signs.

However, Town Counsel has advised that based upon a recent Supreme Court decision, the town's by-law related to political signs is most likely unenforceable.

As a consequence, the town will not be taking any action at this time to enforce that by-law as it relates to the display of election signs.

MacNeil selected to serve in a student leadership position at Assumption

WORCESTER — The Assumption College Office of Student Affairs has announced that Colleen MacNeil, of Tewksbury, Class of 2021, has been selected among a significant pool of applicants to serve as a 2018 Orientation Leader.

The Assumption College Orientation Leaders, guided by the Catholic principles of Assumptionist tradition, are dedicated to supporting incoming first year students during their transition to college. Interactive and collaborative experiences during three different orientation sessions in June — led by the orientation leaders — help both students and parents alike reflect on what it means to be an emerging adult in a college atmosphere.

Orientation leaders will guide incoming students on their journey of becoming individuals of critical intelligence, thoughtful citizenship, and compassionate service as they embark upon their undergraduate journey.

"Each year, we carefully select orientation leaders who best represent the Assumption spirit and who can genuinely connect with and support our incoming first year students," said Kaitlin Bevins, Director of Student Activities and Leadership Development. "Our orientation staff members are committed to creating a welcoming atmosphere and cultivating relationships with the incoming students. During their time together, orientation leaders work to share the deep values, Catholic traditions, and the strong community that is representative of Assumption College."

Assumption College organizes three June orientation programs; each session lasts a day and a half with an overnight component for new students to get a sense of what it will be like to live on campus. Orientation leaders carefully construct sessions to help students familiarize themselves with the campus, discuss academic interests with advisors, and meet other members of their class.

Founded in 1904 by the Augustinians of the Assumption in Worcester, Mass., Assumption College is a Catholic liberal arts institution that offers undergraduate students 41 majors and 48 minors in the liberal arts, sciences, business, and professional studies; as well as master's and continuing education degrees and professional certificate programs-each through an educational experience that is grounded in the rich Catholic intellectual tradition.

The curriculum enables students to gain a depth and breadth of knowledge that leads to professional success and personal fulfillment. Students — whether on the Worcester campus or at the College's Rome, Italy, campus — become engaged participants in Assumption's classic liberal arts education, exploring new ideas and making connections across disciplines.

To prepare for the workforce, students learn cutting-edge theory and best practices, conduct innovative research, and develop excellent communication and critical-analysis skills. Assumption graduates are also known for their thoughtful citizenship and compassionate service to their community.

For more information about Assumption College, please visit www.assumption.edu.

Owner of historical home on Middlesex Ave. looking to sell

"A lot of my friends questioned why I would buy something so old and run down," she explained. "It was the best I could do to get my son into a desirable town in a price point I could manage."

She wasn't afraid of the attention that the house needed; she fell in love with the house as it was when she found it for sale and committed to restoring it.

As a Shawsheen Tech graduate, there were plenty of fix-ups that O'Donoghue was qualified to do — and plenty that she wasn't.

"I tried to hire specialists but I did quite a bit of the demolition, insulating, wiring, gardening, and light carpentry," she continued.

Of course, the restoration involved research into the time that the house was first built, because she didn't want to go against the period or the style that came with the 1854 structure.

A few of these 1854-specific details include mortise and tenon joints, which hold together the wood of the barn without using nails; a claw-foot tub, with feet holding it up; the original wide-plank, pine flooring; a koi pond, which she dug up and rebuilt; and a cement farmers sink. She's since added a large garden where she grows fruits and vegetables; a wood burning stove; and a plastic vinyl fence.

The fence, she mentions, she built with a neighbor.

"I couldn't have done it without him," she said.

The neighbor has been a fan of 136 since he moved in across the street, and he's been a great help to O'Donoghue with the maintenance of her home. It's now a house full of antiques and tools that she's added as appropriate to the era but also fit to her own style.

It's been important for O'Donoghue to keep her home sustainable and self-sufficient for herself and her son.

"When DeMoulas went on strike, friends who once teased me for making bread and growing vegetables came knocking on my door looking for what I had," she remembered.

She also recounts how the heat and sturdiness of her house have served her family well through all kinds of storms.

The barn, named the Bank Barn, is carefully set on a hill — which is how it gets its name. Bank is another word for a hill. This keeps the wood it's made of from rotting and developing mold.

"It makes me sad to see barns falling apart instead of being renovated," she shared. "We're losing our culture without this architecture."

She's had experts offer to buy the barn in the past, but she isn't looking for a barn expert now.

She's picky about who she wants to live in her house.

"I won't sell it to a developer; nobody's going to make condos," she said. "I want a young family that will improve upon it."

She explained that this is why she's worked so hard to rebuild and to recreate this historic property: so that it could be a place for Wilmington to be proud of. O'Donoghue believes that it's her responsibility to select a new owner who won't knock the house down but continue the restoration that she started.

Wildcats take home Scanlon Tournament title once again

WILMINGTON – For the second straight year and the third time in the last four years, the Wilmington High School Baseball team captured the 17th annual Dick Scanlon Memorial Day Tournament held over two days, Saturday and Sunday at the Scanlon Memorial Field.

On Saturday, Carl Beatrice tossed a gem to get the win in a 7-1 victory over Matignon. That put the 'Cats into the championship game against Greater Lawrence. In this contest, Wilmington made quick work, scoring four runs in the first and six more in the second and went on to win 16-0 in a 5-inning Mercy Run Rule contest.

Wilmington finished with 12 hits, reached base five times between walks and hitsbatsmen and also took advantage of seven defensive errors, two passed balls and a wild pitch.

The win pushed Wilmington's winning streak to six and the team's record os now 12-6 overall. The 'Cats faced Burlington on Wednesday with results not known as of presstime and then Wakefield on Thursday. If Wilmington wins both games, it would end up with a share of the league title with Burlington.

In the championship win over the Reggies, the 'Cats built the 4-0 lead in the first inning and Matt Rideout singled and stole second. Both Danny Gracia and Chris Grecco walked. Carl Beatrice kept up his hot hitting with a two-run single to left-center and after a sacrifice fly by Jared Aucoin, Gavin Kelsey drove in a run with a sharp single to left.

The Wildcats sent 12 batters to the plate in the second with six scoring. Rideout, Grecco and Riley Zaya had RBI singles, while Aucoin had a two-run double.

In the third, Wilmington's first two batters were retired before the next seven batters reached base ion three hits, a hitsbatsman and three errors. Kelsey had a RBI single and Zaya had a two-run double.

On the day, Beatrice led going 3-for-3 with three runs scored and two RBI. Zaya finished 2-for-2, scored two runs, knocked in three and also had a stolen base. Kelsey was 2-for-4 with a pair of RBI and Gracia and

Softball team extends winning streak to six

By MIKE IPPOLITO

If you want to be playing your best heading into the post-season, the Wilmington High Softball team certainly appears to be on the right path, with three more wins this week to run their winning streak to six games overall and improve to 12-7 on the season.

The Wildcats rolled to victory in their most recent game, routing Middlesex League rival Wakefield by a score of 12-0 in a mercy rule shortened game on Memorial Day, banging out 14 hits including four home runs, two triples and one double.

The Wildcats jumped on top quickly in this one, taking a 3-0 first inning lead and never looked back. Dana Goulet (3-for-4, 4 RBI) wasted no time in getting Wilmington off to a fast start, ripping a leadoff home run. Three batters later, Ally Moran (3-for-4, 5 RBI) followed suit, blasting a two-run home run to score Antonia Kieran who had reached earlier on an error.

The Wildcats added three more runs in the second inning to make the score 6-0 when Moran doubled home Goulet and Kieran, and they would extend the lead to 8-0 in the fourth when Ryan Bailey tripled to score Emily Wright and moments later Moran collected her fifth RBI of the game with an RBI single to score Bailey.

Goulet would blast her second home run of the game in the fifth inning to make the score 10-0, scoring Aliyah Tang with had reached on an infield hit, and they would close out their scoring and the game in the sixth inning when Kieran led off with a triple and Liz Gordon blasted a two-run homer to make the score 12-0.

In addition to her exploits at the plate, Moran had an outstanding day in the pitcher's circle, allowing only one hit while striking out six.

The Wildcats had celebrated their Senior Night last Wednesday at Aprile Field, honoring their five seniors before the game, and capped off the celebratory night with a 9-1 rout of Middlesex League rival Winchester, a game that officially clinched a tournament spot for the Wildcats.

Moran was once again outstanding, taking a no-hitter into the seventh inning and allowing only one hit overall, while striking out 12 batters in the victory.

Wilmington once again got off to a fast start in this one, scoring three times in the second inning on hits by Bailey and Wright along with three Winchester errors, before adding three more in the third inning on back to back singles by Adele Burton and Liz Gordon and a double by Bailey.

Wilmington would add to their led in the fifth inning on a pair of big hits, with Goulet ripping a triple followed by a long sacrifice fly by Kieran that would have been home run in most parks, but was just a long out and an RBI at Town Park.

In their next game, Wilmington defeated

Division 3 State Track Meet

Garrity places sixth in crowded 800-meter race

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor
jamiepote@hotmail.com

NORTH READING - If you follow high school track and looked at the performance meet before Saturday's Division 3 state meet, one thing that certainly jumped out at you was the girls 800-meter race.

Among the competitors included four of the top distance runners in the entire state, Milton's Elise O'Leary and Bridgett Mitchell, as well as Tewksbury's Makyla Paige and Rachel Sessa. The Milton duo has led their cross-country and track teams to numerous state and all-state titles throughout the last three and four years, Paige is a freshman, who was one of the best runners in all of New England this past winter, and Sessa, who has earned a scholarship to Division 1 Georgetown University, has scored the most points out of any male or female in the entire state over the previous three all-state meets.

To say the field was loaded is certainly an understatement.

Yet throughout all of that, Wilmington High Emma Garrity stayed right with that impressive group nearly the entire two laps at the North Reading High Track. The junior came away with a sensational seventh place finish with a time of 2:21.51.

"Emma in particular had a great day," said head coach Brian Schell. "In a packed 800 meter race with some of the top runners in the entire state, she held her own. She ran the way she is capable of running, she ran a solid race all-around, and she even got a good idea of what it's going to be like next year for her as a senior and that's awesome that she is returning. I was happy for her. She wanted that medal and she got that medal, so good for her."

Paige won the race coming in at 2:14.12, followed by O'Leary and Sessa. Garrity was just edged out by Norton's Isabelle Pietrasiewicz at the line to finish seventh. Had Garrity competed in the other three State Meets and finished with that same time, she would have placed 11th in Division 1, 7th in Division 2 and 2nd in Division 4.

Last year Garrity placed 8th and the year before that as a freshman she was 12th.

Garrity was also a part of the 9th place 4x400 relay team along with Evelyn Miller-Nuzzo, Julia McLaughlin and Alexcia Luna, as they had a combined time of 4:18.33. The first three of that group return next year.

Luna was also second in both the 100 and 200 with times of 12.57 and 25.25 seconds, and Miller-Nuzzo was also 20th in the 400-meter hurdles at 76.03 seconds.

Sophomore Hannah LaVita tied for 8th in the high jump clearing 4-9 and Amie Russell was 18th in the discus (82-06) and 23rd in the shot put (28-07.00). Finally, the 4x100 relay team of Aaliyah Abel, Grace Foley, Ashley LaMonica and Anna Rideout finished 21st at 56.64, and the 4x800 relay team of Carissa Rubin, Lailoo Perriello, Maggie Bourgeois and Gianna Misuraca also finished 21st at 11:06.17.

"Overall, today was pretty good," said Schell. "It was a tough day with weather conditions as it was pretty hot but we definitely had some solid performances from everyone."

An extraordinary -- busy -- day for Alexcia Luna

NORTH READING - The thought of competing in five sprint events in 90 degree temperatures at a state championship meet during one day's work is certainly not something anyone has at the top of their bucket list.

But that's just what Wilmington High senior Alexcia Luna pulled off on Saturday.

Despite not eating breakfast or hydrating herself as much as she should have before the meet, and despite having about a half hour break between four of the races - trials and final runs of the 100 and 200 - before ending the day with the gruesome 4x400 relay race, Luna had a sensational day finishing second in both the 100 and 200, and being a part of the ninth place 4x400 relay team.

Wilmington High School senior Alexcia Luna had a very busy day on Saturday as she finished second in both the 100 and 200-meter runs, and was also a part of the ninth place 4x400 relay team during the Division 3 State Meet held at North Reading High School.

"I know coming into this meet, Alexcia's main goal was to be a state champion but she was just shy of that," said head coach Brian Schell. "That's nothing to be ashamed of. In the 200, she looked solid in the trials and in the finals and finished 25.25 which breaks her own school record. In the 100, her trial time was 12.51 which is a school record, and then she finished 12.57 in the finals to take second.

"Being second place back-to-back in the 100 and 200, on a hot day is incredible. She did three events, did the 100 and 200 twice with the trials and finals, and that's incredibly difficult on your body."

When her races were over and she looked back on the day, Luna was the first to say that skipping breakfast may not have been the best idea.

"I'm just so tired," said Luna after the completion of her races. "It was brutal. I came into the meet not eating any breakfast and barely had any water. Before I run, I get very nauseous and I feel like I'm going to get sick or something."

Her day started off a little after noontime with the 200-meter trials. There she finished second with a time of 26.41 seconds.

"After I ran the 200 trials, and then I put my legs up in the shade and tried to recuperate," said Luna. "Then I had some water and some strawberries and blueberries. That was very beneficial for me running the 100 as I ran a personal record in the preliminaries. It must have been the strawberries, so I have to start eating those more."

After the short break, she then ran the 100-meter trials and finished first with a time of 12.51 seconds. She beat out sophomore Jayda Dillon, of Milton, the reigning Division 3 state champion indoors, who finished at 12.81. It was Dillon who also beat Luna in the 200.

A short rest followed again before the finals of the 200-meters.

"After that (100-meter trial) race, I should have put my legs up more than I did because they started to get a little shaky," said Luna. "I thought I could have done better in the 200 finals as I didn't drive as much as I could towards the end of the race."

In the 200-meter finals, Dillon won with a time of 25.03 (she ran 26.41 in the trials) with Luna taking second at 25.25.

"After that I put my feet up again and I drank some more water," said Luna.

She did that because she still had two final races left - the 100-meters and then as the anchor leg of the 4x400 relay.

The 100-meter finals came and Dillon was again as the champion coming across at 12.34 seconds with Luna right on her back at 12.57 seconds to take second place.

"Then I did the 100 (finals) and then the 4x400. All I did was try to lift up my legs and drain the lactic acid," she said. "But throughout the entire day (former teammate) Elizabeth Olson was helped me so much. If it wasn't for her, I don't think I would have done as good today. She did wonders today for me."

With four very competitive races under her belt around a three-hour span, Schell wondered what Luna had left in the tank.

"At the end of every race especially in the sprints where there's no strategy - compared to a distance event where you can pace, run smart, do what the pace is doing and then at the end spring by some people - you have to go and leave it out there, the lactic acid builds up quick and your muscles become tight in a sprinting event," explained Schell. "You have to drain that lactic acid from your muscles so when you are running trial rounds every half hour and then final rounds after that, it comes up quick.

"So for someone like Alexcia to double up in the 100 and 200 in trials and final heats on a hot day, how close the events are to one another, to finish as high as she did in both events with two new school records, is just phenomenal. To me, she truly is the most outstanding female athlete at Wilmington High School."

Although Luna couldn't repeat as a state champion - like she did taking home the 400-meter title indoors - she was the runner-up in both the 100 and 200, was part of the ninth place 4x800 relay team and is the only representative from the Girls Track team to advance to this Saturday's All-State Meet for the second year in a row.

"I am (proud)," she said. "(Taking second in the 100 and 200 is) a big accomplishment. If I wasn't focused on so many events, I think I could have done much better if I did just one."

The 4x800 relay team the top highlight on the boys' side

NORTH READING – When it comes to track-and-field, sometimes the big performances are not in the headlines or the ones who grab the medals. Take for instance, the Wilmington High School Boys' 4x800 relay team.

The group including brothers Brian and Kevin Elderd, with two freshmen Pat O'Mahony and Owen Surrette entered Saturday's Division 3 State Meet with a previous best time of 8:42.54 and they walked off the North Reading High School Track with a seventh place finish and a combined time of 8:25.9 – a whopping 17-second improvement.

"I'm really proud of those guys," said head coach Mike Kinney. "They came in at 8:42 and they took 17 seconds off of that time and ran 8:25, with two freshmen, a sophomore and a junior. They have a great future ahead of them. Today they were up against a lot of really quality veteran teams, and for them to finish seventh is a tremendous accomplishment."

That finish along with Tyler Thomas taking 7th in the discus throwing 120-04 accounted for all of Wilmington's four points on the day, which was good for 31st place out of 35 scoring teams.

Wakefield won the meet, followed by Pembroke, Tewksbury, North Reading and Milton.

Brian Elderd was also 12th in the 800 at 2:04.38 and Surrette was also 14th in the mile at 4:50.00. Also competing in the running events included Greg Adamek, who was 16th in the mile at 4:53.74; Ben Packer, who was 20th in the two-mile at 10:42.48; Sam Vince, who was 22nd in the 400-meter hurdles at 66.21; Tom Hogan, who was 23rd in the 200 at 25.19 and Jake Danieli, who was 23rd in the 400 at 54.07.

The 4x100 relay team of Richard Stuart, Bruce Veliz, Hogan and Mike Fothergill finished 17th at 46.10, while the 4x400 team was 20th at 3:46.65 behind Danieli, Max Duong, Sean Braz and Sean Riley.

Braz was also 18th in the triple jump (37-10) and Fothergill was 24th in the long jump (19-01.25). Also, Nolan Kane was 19th in the javelin (124-08) and James Sheehan was 27th in the discus (99-04).

On Thursday the pentathlon portion of the meet was held and Colin Rooney was 9th, followed by Fothergill, who was 12th and Vince was 13th.

Several of Wilmington's athletes will participate in the upcoming state pentathlon meet, but besides that the season is over for the program, which included a 3-2 regular season record.

"I thought we made a lot of progress this season," said Kinney. "We have a strong core of young kids. We had a couple of really good senior leaders especially Tommy Hogan, who was really the heart-and-soul of our team. Sean Braz got our Team MVP award as our leading scorer and John Kenney had a real solid season.

"Besides those guys and JJ Sheehan in the throws, our entire team is underclassmen and will all be back next year, so we are really looking forward to the future."

Oberg rejoins Rockies' bullpen

By THOMAS HARDING
MLB.com

DENVER -- Right-hander Adam Ottavino -- whose .092 batting average against is second-lowest among Major League relievers -- landed on the 10-day disabled list with a left oblique strain, and righty reliever Scott Oberg, of Tewksbury, was recalled from Triple-A Albuquerque.

The Rockies recalled Oberg before Monday's game, but the same hailstorm that delayed that game also forced Oberg's flight from Sacramento, Calif., to be diverted because it didn't have enough fuel to keep circling Denver International Airport.

The flight had to land in -- of all places -- Albuquerque. Oberg paid for internet access and informed the Rockies that he'd be late for work.

"I started laughing on the plane," he said. "I thought I'd left Albuquerque."

Ottavino, 32, a former pitcher at Northeastern University, last pitched Sunday, when he recorded two outs in an 8-2 victory over the Reds. Upon learning of the strain, which is considered mild, the club decided to rest Ottavino to keep it from worsening.

In addition to holding opponents to 8-for-87, he ranks fifth in the National League among relievers with an 0.95 ERA and has 45 strikeouts (third in the Majors) among 99 batters faced.

Oberg, 28, began the year with the Rockies but was optioned on April 24 with a 6.55 ERA in 10 appearances. At Albuquerque, Oberg posted a 1.88 ERA in 12 appearances with two saves and 13 strikeouts against two walks.

The Rockies hope for a similar comeback to the one Oberg fashioned late last season. Oberg bounced between the Majors and Triple-A, but in September he posted a 2.03 ERA in 14 appearances.

If he is right, the Rockies could benefit from Oberg's success as a fireman. Last year, just six of 38 inherited runners (15.8 percent) scored. This year before the option, 11 of 13 (84.6 percent) scored.

Oberg appeared in the Rockies 11-4 win on Tuesday night over the Giants. He entered in the ixth inning, gave up a two-run double before getting the last two outs.

Wildcat Tennis Camp has openings

The 12th annual Wildcat Tennis Clinic will run from August 6-10 from 9:00 to 2:00 p.m. at the new high school tennis courts. The clinic is a developmental and support program for those who intend to play high school tennis or for anyone looking to learn great game of tennis.

Supported by the Friends of Wilmington Tennis, the clinic's head instructor is Wildcat Girls Tennis Coach Matt Hackett. Current Wildcat varsity players will assist Coach Hackett with instruction and demonstrations.

The cost of the clinic is $150 per player and includes a free gift, guaranteed fun, and fundamental to advanced instruction. Participants entering grades six through nine are invited to register.

We welcome players of all skill levels. Space is limited to 16 participants and fills up fast.

For registration information, please contact the Friends of Wilmington Tennis at friendswtennis@gmail.com or 978.729.3600.

Somerville on the road in their senior game by a score of 5-1. Hits were hard to come by for both teams but the Wildcats played "old school softball" by getting their first batter on and using sacrifice bunts or flies to muster single runs in the first and fifth innings.

In the first, leadoff batter Kayla Bourrell was hit by a pitch to start a rally. Dana Goulet laid down a great sacrifice bunt, advancing Bourrell all the way third base before Kieran hit another deep fly ball to right for a sacrifice fly scoring Bourrell.

Wilmington would score again in the fifth inning, with Bailey starting the rally by working a walk, followed by a sacrifice bunt by Gianna Brunetto which advanced Ryan to third where she later scored from on a single by Wright.

Gordon got an RBI single in the sixth plating Jenna Sweeney who came in as a courtesy runner for pitcher Ally Moran. In the bottom of the inning Somerville scored its only run an infield hit, stolen base and a single, but the Wildcats finished strong with a two run home run by Goulet in the seventh inning to provide some insurance for Moran, who was once again outstanding in the circle, striking out 11 Somerville batters.

The Wildcats will close out their regular season with a road game at Essex Tech on Saturday morning at 11:00 a.m., and they will then await the pairings for the MIAA Tournament to find out the identity of their first round opponent.

Baseball team sweeps home-and-home series against Shawsheen

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor
jamiepote@hotmail.com

WILMINGTON - Two days earlier the teams met and Wilmington came away with an 11-2 win, with the game called after five innings due to thunder and lightning.

On Friday afternoon, Wilmington swept the home-and-home series with a 6-2 victory, which officially gave the team ten wins to qualify for the state tournament, while the Shawsheen Rams need to win their final game on Friday against Arlington Catholic in order to get in.

"We had already qualified, between the Sullivan Rule, but today we did it by getting enough wins, so it's nice. It's what we wanted all along. Getting that tenth win out of the way," said Wilmington head coach Aldo Caira.

The two wins extended Wilmington's winning streak to five games, as the team had been struggling with a 5-6 record a little while back.

"(The difference is) the kids are hitting," he said. "We have always been getting the great pitching, but we didn't back it up with the hitting. We lost a 1-0 game, we lost a 3-1 game because we didn't get any hits. Now we're putting the bat on the ball. Everyone is, one through nine (in the batting order) so that's nice."

On the flip side, Shawsheen left seven runners on base, including five in scoring position, hit into two double plays and had the bases loaded with no outs trailing 5-1 and could only muster one run.

"Yeah, without a doubt (that hurt us)," said Shawsheen head coach Brian McCarthy. "We have take advantage of opportunities. When you have the bases loaded with nobody out, you got to score a few runs especially against a good team like this. Anytime you face a team like this, they are going to give you their very best and you got to take advantage of your opportunities. We shot ourselves in the foot in the first inning and same thing you can't do that against a real good team like Wilmington.

"We had our opportunities and didn't capitalize, but I liked how our kids kept battling all the way until the end. It was just too little, too late."

Shawsheen took a 1-0 lead in the top of the first on three singles, a stolen base and a sacrifice fly. Russell Murphy singled in Craig Meland, who singled to center field before stealing second.

Wilmington responded with two runs in the home half. Graham Smith, Matt Rideout and Danny Gracia all had singles with the latter driving in one of the two runs.

Shawsheen was held off the scoreboard over the next four innings. Wilmington High junior right-hander Chris Stokes settled in nicely. He gave up back-to-back singles with one out in the top of the fourth but escaped trouble with a 4-6-3 double play. He retired the side in order in the fifth, before running on fumes in the top of the sixth but at that time the 'Cats had a 5-1 lead. He gave up an infield single and walked the next two batters James Alagna and Chris Galinos to load the bases. After getting two pop ups, Stokes walked Tewksbury's Anthony Medeiros to force in a run making it 5-2.

"(Stokes) started to get tired and you could see that. He hadn't pitched in over a week. We were worried about that. I wanted to go with him today to get that tenth win and we felt comfortable with him," said Caira.

With the bases loaded and two outs, Caira called on Graham Smith. He hadn't pitched in a while, and had struggled with his command earlier in the year, but on this day his gas was extremely lethal.

"Graham has struggled but he is back. We wanted to try to get him into a pressure situation. He hasn't pitched in a while, and it's probably just his third or fourth time (on the mound). He looked good," said Caira.

Smith struck out Connor Rich to end the sixth, then got the side in order in the seventh on two strikeouts to Meland and Nick Nardella before getting Russell Murphy to ground out to second to notch the save.

After getting those two runs in the first, Wilmington scored two more in the fourth on a RBI groundout by Mike Fiorenza to score Jared Aucoin, who laced a double, and then Ben Maynard singled and came around on a RBI double to left by Smith.

"Offensively, Smith and Gracia had a few nice hits and Jared (Aucoin) really put the bat on the ball. That first one I think was knocked down by the win, plus their kid made a real nice catch on it. We made some errors in the field but we also had a couple of nice plays. The team is starting to come around which is nice," said Caira.

Gracia led the way going 3-for-4, while Smith and Maynard had two hits each. Stokes earned the win giving up two earned runs in five hits, while walking three and striking out two. He now has won three straight including the back-to-back shut out wins over Stoneham.

For Shawsheen, Murphy was the lone player with multiple hits with two, while he knocked in a run and scored one. No batter recorded an extra-base hit.

Sean Flagg was the losing pitcher. He certainly pitched much better than his line indicated with several balls misplayed, as well as three defensive errors behind him.

"I was happy with Sean's performance," said McCarthy. "We saw these guys just two nights ago and they were putting balls left and right, all over the field and we knew that they can hit. Today, Sean got ahead of most hitters, kept the ball low and he kept us within the game and that's all we can ask of our starting pitcher - give us a chance to win. But when the defense isn't helping you, and you are not capitalizing on your opportunities, you're not going to win games."

After the loss, Shawsheen has plenty of time to rest up with seven days off before a game with AC.

"We're 9-10 and we have Arlington Catholic on Friday," said McCarthy. "We're off for a while. We'll have everyone ready to go. We played them tough the first time we played them. It was a 4-2 loss. We were ahead 2-1 in the fifth and we had a letdown inning and gave up three runs. We know it'll be a battle, we have seen them before so we know it'll be a good game."

In the 11-2 win last Wednesday, Gracia picked up the win going five innings, giving up one earned run, while striking out five. Offensively, Chris Grecco finished 3-for-4 with three RBI, Matt Rideout was 2-for-3 with four RBI and two runs scored, Gracia was 2-for-3 with three runs scored and two RBI, Carl Beatrice had one hit and two RBI and Maynard had two hits and scored twice.

Rideout also had two hits each.

On the mound Zaya made his first start and tossed the five-inning shut out. He scattered five hits, walked two and struck out four, while showing some good life on his fastball throughout the game.

"Riley was incredible today," said head coach Aldo Caira. "He stepped up and he threw strikes. That's his thing and against a team like this, that's what you got to do. This is his first start but I believe it's his third game. He throws hard and he does a nice job."

In the top of the fifth inning, Wilmington High senior Jack Boyle was inserted into the game as the team's right fielder. Earlier this season, he took a line drive off his head during infield practice and suffered a skull fracture. Doctors told him that his baseball season was over.

"We wanted to get him out there," said Caira. "He actually played on Saturday, got an at-bat and he actually recorded the final out of the game. It was nice."

In the win over Matignon, Beatrice earned the win on the mound, scattering five hits while allowing one unearned run and striking out nine over six innings of work. Smith tossed a scoreless seventh.

Offensively, Beatrice helped himself out with a hit and drove in a run with a sacrifice fly.

Matt Rideout added two hits, scored two runs and knocked in one and Tim Kippenberger had a hit and knocked in a pair.

Beatrice was named the tournament MVP, while, Smith, Rideout and Zaya were named to the All-Tournament team.

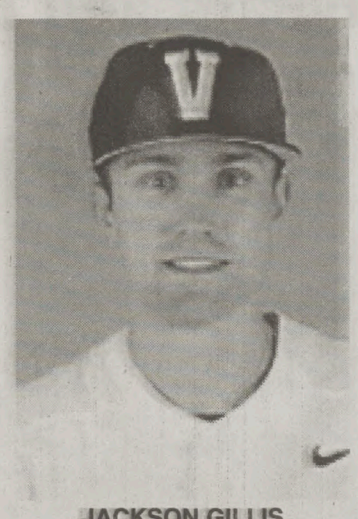

Gillis and Vanderbilt to take on St. John's in NCAA Tournament

Sophomore lefthanded pitcher Jackson Gillis and the rest of his Vanderbilt Baseball team are headed to the NCAA Tournament, with a chance to qualify for the College World Series.

It is an SEC record 13th consecutive NCAA appearance for the Commodores who will be the No. 2 seed at the Clemson Regional for a second consecutive season, having won the regional last season. Vanderbilt has advanced to the NCAA Super Regionals in six of the last eight years.

Vanderbilt opens the 2018 NCAA Division I Baseball Championships on Friday, facing St. John's at 11 a.m. CT in a rematch of last year's Clemson Regional opener from Doug Kingsmore Stadium.

JACKSON GILLIS

The game will be aired nationally on the SEC Network. Fans can also listen to the game courtesy of the vucommodores app as well as locally on WNSR 560 AM/95.9 FM with Joe Fisher on the call. Pre-game coverage begins 15 minutes prior to first pitch.

Vanderbilt (31-25) enters the NCAA Tournament having won six of its last eight games. The Commodores racked up 17 wins against USA Today/ESPN Top 25 opponents while boasting the nation's fourth-toughest schedule.

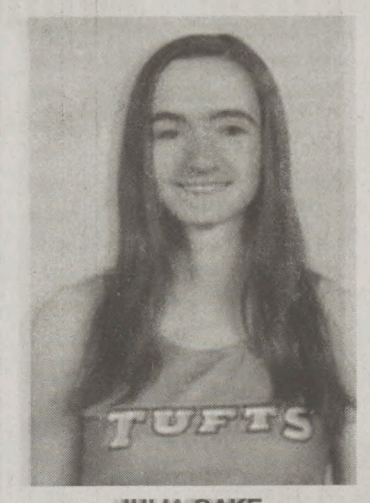

Gillis, a 2016 graduate of Wilmington High, has been a big part of the Commodores success this season, with a 4-1 record thus far in 16 appearances, mostly in relief. Gillis has struck out 36 batters in 27 innings pitched on the season.

TRACK-AND-FIELD

Regis College senior Kate Cowden set a school record in the discus at the New England NCAA Division III Track and Field Championships back on May 4 at MIT, finishing with a top throw of 127-11.75 to earn a fourth place finish. Cowden also earned an 11th place finish in shot put with a throw of 37-7.

This performance came on the heels of an outstanding day the week before at the GNAC (Great Northeast Athletic Conference) Inter-Conference Track-and-Field Championship where Cowden won the discus with a throw of 118-05, while taking second in the shot put with a throw of 37-10.50.

Tufts University sophomore Julia Gake had three consecutive outstanding meets to close out her season. Gake began her great stretch with an eighth place finish in the 400 meters in a time of 59.34 at the New England Division 3 Track and Field Championships back on May 4. She followed that up the next weekend with an eighth place finish as part of the 4x400 relay team at the NEICAAA Outdoor Track & Field Championships, finishing in a time of 3:55.31.

JULIA GAKE

Gake and her 4x400 teammates saved their best performance for last, earning a first place finish in the event at the MIT Division 3 Qualifying Meet on May 17, finishing in a time of 3:55.01.

Northern Essex Community College freshman Katelyn Richardson finished in a three-way tie for sixth place in the high jump at the NJCAA National Championships held at Mohawk Valley Community College in Utica on May 12, as she cleared a height of 1.34 meters. She is the current school record holder in the event as she had cleared 1.42 meters earlier in the season.

LACROSSE

Roger Williams sophomore midfielder Ashley Warren had two goals and an assist to help lead the Hawks to an 18-6 win over the University of New England in the first round of the Commonwealth Coast Conference (CCC) Tournament back on May 1.

Warren and the Hawks would be eliminated two days later, losing 11-9 thriller to No. 1 seed Endicott, closing out a season that saw Warren score seven goals to go along with eight assists, while playing in 14 of 17 games.

FIELD HOCKEY

Off the field, Bentley University senior Caitlin Derrickson was recently named to the Zag Field Hockey/NFHCA Division II National Academic Squad for achieving a cumulative GPA of 3.30 or higher through the first semester of the 2017-18 academic year. It is the second time in her career that Derrickson has been named to the squad.

The WHS Boys Varsity Lacrosse team recently finished up its season, playing very well in the second half and just missed out on qualifying for the state tournament. There's no article to go with the picture as repeated calls and emails over the last two weeks to the head coach were not returned to the Town Crier.

WHS Hall of Fame nominations

The Wilmington High School Athletic Hall of Fame Committee has announced that the nomination deadline for this year is June 1, 2018. All nominations must be received by the deadline in order to be considered.

Established in 1990, Wilmington's Hall of Fame honors the school's athletes, coaches, benefactors, and special contributors.

The selection process is based on the rule that the candidates for induction be evaluated on what they did in sports while at Wilmington High School exclusively. Achievements in sports while at college or at the professional level will have no bearing on the selection committee's deliberations.

To be eligible for nomination, the athletes must have participated in at least one varsity sport. Athletes nominated for the Hall of Fame must have graduated at least ten years prior to nomination.

All nominations should be emailed to: Wildcathof@gmail.com.

First in a series

Wilmington Little League senior profiles: Ben Maynard and Riley Zaya

This is the first in a series of articles celebrating the former Wilmington Little Leagues seniors playing on the Wilmington High Baseball team. Little League's motto is courage, character, and loyalty. Through playing with and against each other these student athletes are the embodiment of this motto.

Ben Maynard when he first started out in Wilmington Little League and now as a member of the WHS Varsity Baseball team. (courtesy photos).

This year Wilmington Little League is represented by seniors Jarred Aucoin, Matt Rideout, Tom Worob, Dylan Bresnahan, Carl Beatrice, Graham Smith, Danny Gracia, Ben Maynard, Riley Zaya, Chris Grecco, and Jack Boyle.

This week's edition features Ben Maynard and Riley Zaya.

BEN MAYNARD

Every team needs their own Greg Maddux type player. Ben Maynard is that kind of player. A cerebral player, who is a student of the game. A player who sees and understands both the big and small picture. Intense and focused, he was on the small side but made up for it with his baseball intellect and the ability to always be in the right place at the right time.

Ben began his WLL career in Rookie ball playing for the Tornados, coached by Greg Frasier. His first year on the small diamond everyone know he had a future as a ball player. Not one to be playing with earthworms or dirt bombs, when he was on the diamond he was focused on baseball. He remembers pulling off an unassisted triple play while playing for the Yellow Jackets in Rookie ball. One other memory that sticks out the best offensive day of his life with two home runs, a triple and a double.

Drafted into the Majors by the Twins as a 10-year-old, Ben spent three years playing for coach Tom Sheehan. During those three years he was selected twice to the All-Star team. In his first year, Ben had fun playing with the 12-year-old's on the team. Being able to pitch effectively against older and bigger competition is one of his fondest memories of playing in the WLL Majors. He learned the strike zone and kept his pitch counts low. By incorporating all that and using a variety of pitches, one hour complete games, throwing six innings in under 85 pitches, were regular occurrences for Ben. Not the hardest thrower in the Majors, Ben learned how to consistently throw strikes with all his pitches and rarely walked anyone.

For Ben's parents one memory sticks out. In Ben's first year in the Majors Coach Sheehan called on Ben to make his first pitching appearance in the Majors. With the team already down 2-0, with a couple base runners inherited, Ben got out of the inning with no additional runs and proceeded to go the distance in a 2-1 loss. That game was against the A's went on to win the regular season championship,.

He capped his WLL career as a valuable member of the 2016 Northeast team which was the first Wilmington team to win a Northeast League Division championship.

This will be Ben's second year playing Varsity Baseball for the Wildcats. He was a member of the 2017 Middlesex Freedom Division Championship team last year as well. He played his first two high school years on the Freshman and JV teams. Ben also played WHS Varsity Golf as a Junior and Senior, and spent three years playing WHS Basketball on the Freshman and JV teams.

One accomplishment that Ben is most proud of is his participation in the Pan Mass Challenge, to raise money for the Jimmy Fund. He began riding in the Kids Pan Mass Challenge in first grade and continued to ride in that event with his sister until sixth grade, He moved up to the adult ride which he did with his Mom and Grandfather and over the years has helped raise more the $50,00 for cancer research.

Ben is grateful for his parents Maria and Greg Maynard and his sister Sophia, who are always attending games and cheering on Ben and his teammates. If you around a game Ben is playing in, you will almost always see his Dad, Greg keeping score. Ben is planning on attending Boston College in the fall and will study Applied Mathematics.

RILEY ZAYA

There is always that one kid who, when you watch them they look like they were born to be a ballplayer. Riley Zaya is that type of kid. He always seems to be in the right place, is fundamentally sound, and looks like he belongs on the baseball diamond. He comes from a family of ballplayers and spent a lot of his formative years with his dad and brother at baseball camps, run by the coach of Reading High.

Riley is also the kind of player who would run through a wall for you. He once gutted out an entire game with a sore arm, never letting the coach know so that he could help his team. Riley is a quick witted kid who knows how to keep everyone loose, but also knows when to buckle down and get serious.

Riley began his WLL career in Rookie ball playing for the Yellow Jackets, coached by Fred Russell. Once on the field, his skills and ability were evident to anyone who saw him play. That first year on the small diamond was filled with many exciting memories. He remembers getting his first hit, catching his first pop-up, turning his first double play, and turning a single into a double. He remembers how much fun it was go to the field, get dirty and play baseball.

Drafted by the Indians as a ten-year-old, he played his first season under Coach Jim Dee. His final two seasons he played for Coach Fred Russell. The highlight of his Majors career was getting to play one season with his brother Connor. He was selected to play on the All Star tournament team each of his three seasons.

Other memorable moments included pitching a complete game, getting his first hit as a 10-year-old, and turning a game saving double play during a 11-year-old All Star tournament game. He really enjoyed playing for Coach Russell, and helping the Indians to the playoff semifinals during his final year in the Majors.

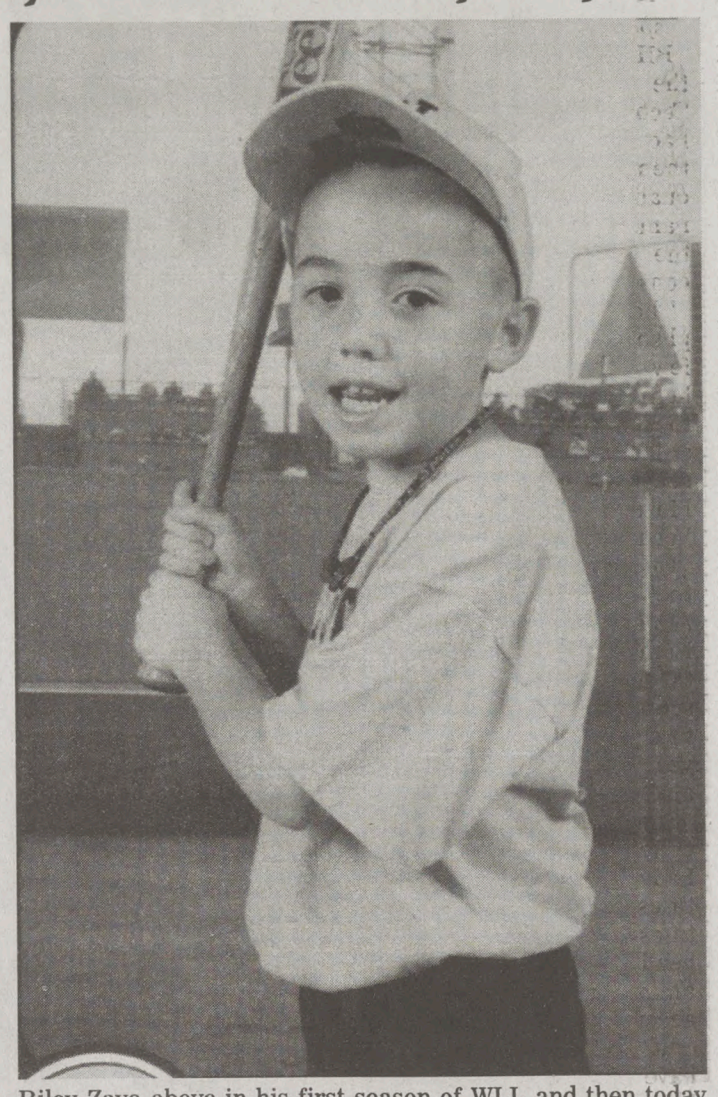

Riley played on the Indians with future Wildcats Jack Boyle and Jarred Aucoin. He also always enjoyed marching in the Opening Day parade and hanging with his friends on the outfield fence watching the other teams play their games.

Riley finished his WLL career playing two years in Juniors. Along with the spring teams, he also played for the Jimmy Fund, Pony, and Northeast teams in the summer. He was a valuable contributor to the first Wilmington Middle School team. He helped lead the Wildcats to a 16-5 record and a trip to the semifinals of the playoffs.

He also played on the 2016 Northeast team, which was the first Wilmington team to win a Northeast League Division championship.

This will be Riley's second year playing Varsity Baseball for the Wildcats, having competed at the Freshman and JV level for the his first two years. He was a member of the 2017 Middlesex Freedom division championship team last year. He also played four years on the WHS Soccer team.

Riley is thankful for all the years his mother Claire, Father Tom, brother Connor, and sister Mackenzie made the time to see him play. He is grateful to have gotten the opportunity to play that one year in the Majors with his brother. He is planning on attending the University of New Hampshire in the fall to study business.

Astros score 16 runs to get past Rays in Triple-A contest

Wilmington Little League
Triple-A
Astros 16, Rays 12

It was another game where everyone got on base for the Astros. Joe Gronemeyer had a big game with a single and two doubles, scoring twice. Joe Fennelly singled three times and scored while Evan Cummings ripped another single.

Ethan Afthim walked and scored while Tim Watson singled three times and walked while scoring four runs. Ronnan Scafiddi ripped the ball all day with two singles and a double, scoring twice while John Roofe singled and scored himself.

Kevin Pruslin walked and scored in a big second inning and Kyle McDonald singled and scored as well. Luke Kitanov walked twice and singled, scoring twice.

Not to be overshadowed by the offense, the Astros' pitchers had some great performances as well. Gronemeyer struck out three and Watson struck out five. Evan Cummings struck out three in one inning in his debut pitching performance. Watson snared another line drive while Roofe had a good defensive game as well.

For the Rays, Kenny Bradley made his first start of the season. Alan Vincente was to 2-for-2 with a triple. Braedon Almas was two for two with two RBIs. Gus Lambert also went two for two with two RBIs.

Pirates 16, Astros 7

The Astros had another game filled with baserunners. Joe Gronemeyer and Evan Cummings doubled, adding to singles by Joe Fennelly, Jake Cronin, Joe Cavanaugh, Tim Watson, Ronnan Scafiddi, and Cummings (again), leading the way for the offense. Batters showed a keen eye as well as Kevin Pruslin (twice), Luke Kitanov, Cavanaugh, and Gronemeyer drew walks. Pruslin added his first stolen base.

Kyle McDonald and Ethan Afthim made good plays on grounders at second base while Will Poyant, Gronemeyer, Fennelly, Cavanaugh, Watson, and Pruslin were among others making plays in the field. Poyant struck out six on the mound while Fennelly (1) and Kitanov (2) added to the strikeout total.

All of this wasn't enough however, as the Pirates were led by Gavin Poirier who pitched four innings, striking out ten, while also going 3-for-4 with a home run.

The Pirates had great catching by Noah Matton and Jake Driscoll along with offense from Joey Fallis, Ronnie Jordan, Chris Smith, and Riley Morrell.

Great base running from everyone lead to a complete team effort in the win. Coaches have spoken to the team about cheering on their teammates and David Norton was a great motivator for the team during this game. He never stopped rooting on his teammates and the Pirates' coaches don't believe it's a coincidence that when kids are being supported by their teammates, they perform better.

ROOKIE LEAGUE
Giants vs Braves

The Giants and Braves played a highly anticipated rematch that had been postponed by rain, but it was worth the wait. The Braves did their best to keep the Giants from scoring with some great defense by Ben Sawyer, Bart Zaino and Stephen Zella, while Cameron Jaynes was solid at catcher. When up at bat, the Braves were paced by key hits from Jacob Andrade-Silva and Michael Duffy.

Shawsheen Tech Football Clinic, July 23-28

This clinic is for kids who would like to learn, compete and have fun "under the lights", playing flag-football games while learning about competition.

The cost of the clinic is $125 per athlete. To register, contact Athletic Director/Head Football Coach Al Costabile at 978-671-3632 or send an email to: acostabile@shawtech.org.

Shawsheen Tech Girls Lacrosse team crowned State Voc Champions

On Monday afternoon, the Shawsheen Tech Girls Lacrosse team captured the State Voc Championship title. The team includes back row from left to right: Assistant Coach Heather McLaughlin, Team Manager Kim Benton, Jade Sweeney, Shelby Delosh, Jordan Casaubon, Brooke Johnson, Megan Brown, Head Coach Alex O'Reilly, Christa Davis, Kara Ippolito, Hailey Winn, Taylor Giordano, Amanda Howell, Assistant Coach Nick Troisi; and front row left: Celina Barczak, Maddie Rumley, Captain Sarah Constantino, Captain Alesha Talbot, Captain Ashlyn Troisi, Erin Mader, Rhiannon Bent. Goalies Julia Ryan (left) and Jess Sheppard. (courtesy photo).

BILLERICA - Heading into the season, the Shawsheen Tech Girls Lacrosse team had set several goals for themselves, starting with qualifying for the state tournament, followed by winning the CAC title for the third consecutive year.

The Lady Rams accomplished both of those goals a few weeks back, clinching both a tournament berth and the CAC title, but one goal still remained, clinching a second consecutive Massachusetts State Vocational championship.

On Monday afternoon at the Charles H. Lyons Athletic Complex, the Lady Rams completed the trifecta, defeating Old Colony by a score of 10-8 to claim the title in a rematch of last year's championship game, also won by Shawsheen.

Shawsheen coach Alex O'Reilly, who has led the Lady Rams to three league titles and two vocational titles in her three years as head coach, continues to be amazed by her team's accomplishments.

"It is such a privilege to have had the opportunity to lead these girls to their second straight state vocational championship. They always rise to a challenge and maintain a close view of their goal," O'Reilly said. "At the beginning of each season we meet as a team and the girls contribute goals that they'd like to see the team achieve throughout the season. We list out all of the goals from each girl and condense them into a list of achievable challenges.

"Some of the goals set this season were to be three time CAC league champions, qualify for the MIAA state tournament, and to be two time state vocational tournament champions. These girls set the bar for the season and it's my job to provide them with the tools necessary for getting there. They have drive, passion, positive outlooks, and no-quit attitudes. To be the best vocational-school girls lacrosse team in the state is an absolute honor."

Shawsheen was led to the victory by five goals from senior attack Alesha Talbot of Tewksbury, along with two from junior attack Megan Brown, and one goal each from seniors Sarah Constantino and Erin Mader both of Tewksbury and one goal by Jade Sweeney.

For a while, it looked like Shawsheen was going to coast to victory in this one, as Talbot got them on the board with a goal just 30 seconds into the game, and the Lady Rams extended their lead to 5-1 with just under nine minutes left in the half on goals by Constantino, Sweeney, Talbot and Brown.

Shawsheen would lead 7-4 at the half and would extend their lead to 9-4 on a goal by Talbot with 15:20 left in the game, a seemingly comfortable cushion. Old Colony would fight back, however, closing to within 9-7 with three goals in under three minutes, leaving the game very much in doubt with 12:25 left in regulation.

With the score tightening, some teams might have panicked, but Shawsheen did not, as Mader scored with 7:51 left off of a beautiful pass from freshman Amanda Howell of Wilmington to make the score 10-7. Old Colony would get back on the board with just over a minute left in regulation, but by then, it was too little too late, and the Lady Rams were once again champions.

O'Reilly was impressed by her team's poise throughout the game.

"The game was played smart by the girls from the start. Alesha getting possession off the first draw, sprinting it up field, and tossing it in the net was exactly what we needed to happen," O'Reilly said. "That play set the pace for the entire game. Alesha went out there and showed the team that we were going to do this. She is always reminding them that this is "our game" - a phrase used by our team to remind us how we play. Play smart, calm, controlled, and disciplined... that's our game. The girls went out there and played our game. That's what got them a strong lead from the start."

If Talbot's goal got Shawsheen off to a strong start, then Mader's goal was the capper to a fantastic finish.

"Erin has been another strong force out on the field this season, never mind just this game," O'Reilly said. "She has caught almost ever pass that's came her way. She is very calm and thorough with her plays. By getting us that final goal, Erin was able to secure a more comfortable three goal lead that allowed the girls to focus on ball-movement and finishing the game with possession."

It should come as no surprise that Talbot and Brown led the way offensively for Shawsheen, as Brown currently leads the team with 55 goals this season and 71 in her career after tallying just 16 in her freshman and sophomore seasons, while Talbot is at 50 goals on the season after also having just 16 heading into the year.

O'Reilly knows that her team would not be in this great position without both of these star -players.

"Alesha and Megan have grown significantly as players this season," O'Reilly said. "I am very proud of her and the growth she has achieved this season by becoming our leading offensive players.

"Alesha has made an incredible leap this season from her previous 16 goal career. After three years she too has proven immense development and growth as a player. She has established a leadership role with the team off the field and on the field. She is one of the driving forces behind our offensive set and defensive set. Working alongside Sarah Constantino, the pair of captains have proven to provide great leadership and structure to our midfield transition and offensive success."

While there was plenty of offense, the Lady Rams would not have come away with the win without the efforts of both of their goalies, Jess Sheppard who played the first half and Julia Ryan of Wilmington who played the second half. Each keeper came up with some big saves at big moments to preserve the lead and the victory.

"Julia and Jess are our life line. When all else fails they are always ready to put themselves out there and come up with a big save," O'Reilly said. "The ball has the get through eleven other people on the field before it gets to the goalies. By the time it reaches Julia and Shepp, the two don't hesitate or back down, they square up and pick up the slack for their team. No hard feelings, no complaints, they just do it.

"We are so lucky to have two incredible goalies who share the same playing styles and strengths. Both girls are maintaining save percentages this season above fifty percent."

Pairings for the MIAA Division 2 North Tournament will be announced on Friday, and while O'Reilly doesn't know yet who the Lady Rams will play, she is confident in their ability to bring their game to another level.

"The team is really looking forward to the post season as they'd like to achieve at least one tournament win," O'Reilly said. "I am looking forward to seeing the seeding and hopeful that we will place somewhere in the middle of our D2 North opponents."

Shawsheen Tech Track Teams compete at D3 States

Simonds, relay team advance to All-State Meet

100By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor
jamiepote@hotmail.com

NORTH READING – In the two years before Jeff McGrath became the head spring track-and-field coach, neither the boys or girls teams scored a point at the State Meet. On Saturday afternoon, the boys team scored 20 to finish 13th out of 25 teams that scored at least one point during the Division 3 State Meet held in 90 degree temperatures at North Reading High School over five-plus hours.

"I would agree and say that we did have a fantastic day," said McGrath. "We had one individual and one relay team qualify for the all-state meet and that's huge for us. Our program has come to far. Last year was the first time we had someone qualify for the all-states in over a decade, so today was huge for us to get back on the map. We scored 20 points as a team to finish in 13th place. We have come a long way and we had some medals today."

Kyle Simonds was the team's top individual performer. He competed in the 400-meter hurdles and came in fourth at 59.02 and that finish gives him an automatic spot in this Saturday's All-State Meet to be held at Fitchburg State College.

"Kyle is recovering from a sinus infection," said McGrath. "He wasn't at his best earlier in the week. He struggled in the league (championship) meet and was fifth overall just in the league meet and just didn't have his best day. It was huge for him today to have a clean run, not to hit any hurdles and get back into form. We think with a week of recovery and getting fully healthy, that he will be able to represent and do really well at the all-state meet."

Simons was also 17th in the 110-meter hurdles at 16.65 seconds.

Three other individuals placed to earn points including Jared Mason, of Tewksbury, with a fifth in the long jump (21-06), Sam Baker with a sixth in the triple jump (42-02.50) and Nick Sachetta with a sixth in the 800 at 2:01.28. Sachetta also joined Sam Chebook, Jason Myers, of Tewksbury, and Wilmington resident Ralph Desrosiers to finish fourth in the 4x400 relay with a combined time of 3:32.57.

Chebook, Baker, Mason and Nick Gird finished 10th in the 4x100 relay, which broke a school record with a time of 44.73 seconds.

"Even though we didn't medal, we finished tenth and that just shows you the competition the kids were up against and how fast everybody was," said McGrath.

Gird was also 13th in the 100 (11.68), Mason was 15th in the javelin (133-02), Baker was 16th in the long jump (20-02), Myers was 18th in the long jump (19-08.75) and RJ Page was 22nd in the mile at 5:02.09.

On the girls side, Alex DiPerri was very busy. She was 10th in the long jump (16-05.75), 12th in the 100 (13.27) and was part of the 15th place 4x100 relay team along with Alana DeSalvatore, Rachel MacDonald and Susanna Gillis, who had a combined time of 52.91 seconds.

"Alex DiPerri finished in the top 15 in both the 100 and the long jump," said McGrath. "And the girls 4x100 relay team broke a school record. Although we didn't medal and took 15th overall, the girls had a strong day as we are predominately an underclassmen team.

"We graduate just four seniors so to have the rest of the team back and to have the majority of them participate today was just huge for those kids to get that exposure."

Rams Softball team clinches a state tournament spot

By MIKE IPPOLITO

After suffering their worst loss of the season last Wednesday in an 11-0 defeat to CAC rival Whittier, the Shawsheen Tech Softball team responded with three dramatic wins, starting last Friday and again on Monday and Tuesday to not only get back on the winning track with three late inning rallies, but also secure a spot in the post season in the process.

The Lady Rams started their rebound week with a thrilling 5-3 win over Ipswich last Friday night, scoring two runs in the bottom of the sixth inning on a bases loaded two out single by Becca Smith of Tewksbury.

Shawsheen led 3-0 as the teams headed to the top of the sixth inning before the Tigers stormed back with three runs in the top of the sixth, leading to the Lady Rams heroics in the bottom of the inning.

Carlee Wickwire got things started in the bottom of the sixth when she lined a single to center to lead off the inning followed by a walk by Brooke Arena. After a Hayley Ferguson sacrifice, Sam Boucher had an infield single to load the bases. With a drawn-in infield, Karissa Kakleas hit a hard grounder to the pitcher who got the next run out at the plate. Smith then hit a blooper between short, second and center to score what would prove to be the winning runs.

"This was a huge win for us today," Shawsheen coach Scott Ialuna said. "We played really well. This was a good rebound from the loss to Whittier."

Ialuna was happy but not surprised to see Smith come through in the clutch when the Lady Rams needed a big hit.

"Good players make big plays at big times and nothing was bigger than Becca's hit," Ialuna said. "It was a two-outs, full count, so all runners were moving on the pitch, which is why we were able to get two home. Our defense played great today and that was the difference. I am so happy for this team."

Senior Captain Brooke Arena went the distance for the Lady Rams, striking out five and walking none, while Bella Richard and captain Alysha Cushing each had two hits.

With that win, the Lady Rams improved to 9-6 on the season, securing a spot in the MIAA Tournament.

Shawsheen was back in action on Memorial Day when they hit the road to take on CAC rival Mystic Valley, and once again the Lady Rams used a late inning rally to escape with a win, this time scoring three runs in the top of the seventh.

Down 3-1 heading into the top of the seventh, Hayley Ferguson's triple ignited a 5-hit, 5-run rally that allowed Shawsheen Tech to defeat Mystic Valley, 6-3. Neither team could get anything going for most of the game, as only six balls were hit out of the infield heading into the seventh inning.

Ferguson tripled to lead off the inning and scored easily on Grace Clark's single. Following an error to load the bases, Bella Richard smoked a double down the left field line to score two more runs, and Wickwire followed with another double almost in the same spot to account for two more runs.

Wickwire also had a fabulous day on the mound scattering three hits and striking out 12 batters in a complete game effort.

"Carlee had a lot of movement on her pitches & hit her spots all night," Ialuna said. "Hayley's leadoff triple in the seventh was huge! She awoke a sleeping giant, as four of the next six batters had hits. The girls showed a lot in these last two comeback wins against good opponents. They didn't quit, they continued to fight, and continued to play together. We need that going forward."

Shawsheen (11-6) may have saved their best comeback for last, as they pulled out a 10-9 thriller over Bedford on Tuesday afternoon in another road game. This time, the Lady Rams needed three runs in the top of the seventh inning to come away with the victory, with Katelyn Logue getting the game winning hit with two outs to give Shawsheen the lead.

With two outs and the Lady Rams trailing 9-7, Becca Smith walked, Alysha Cushing singled her to third and stole second. Grace Clark followed with a single scoring Smith to make the score 9-8.

Moments later Cushing would score on a wild pitch to tie the game at 9-9, while moving Clark moved to second, and bringing up Logue who would rip a single to score Clark and make the score 10-9 in favor of Shawsheen.

Cushing (3-for-5, 3 runs scored), Clark (3-for-5, 2 RBI) and Logue (3-for-3) led the offense. Wickwire picked up the win with two scoreless innings of relief.

The Lady Rams will wrap up their regular season with a non-league game at Innovation Academy on Wednesday afternoon before beginning play in the Division 3 North Tournament later this week or early next week.

Rams Boys Lacrosse team earns another victory

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent
sports@yourtowncrier.com

Their biggest games are still to come, but as the season winds down, the Shawsheen Tech Boys Lacrosse team certainly looks like a team that is ready for the MIAA Tournament.

Despite suffering their first loss of the season recently to CAC rival Northeast Metro Tech, the Rams appear to have put the setback behind them as they gear up for the post season.

In fact, they have already gotten part of their post season underway, picking up a big 15-6 win over Blackstone Valley last Thursday in the semifinals of the Mass. State Vocational Tournament at the Charles H. Lyons Athletic Complex, earning a spot in the tournament's championship game this Friday night at Bristol Plymouth as they seek their fourth consecutive vocational title.

The Rams led from start to finish in this one, putting together a complete game effort to earn their spot in the championship game.

"We played well all around which was great to see seeing we were coming off of loses to Northeast and Bedford," Shawsheen coach Chuck Baker said. "We weren't playing well and to come out and take control right away and put in a great team effort it was good to see. Now we need to go for four in a row on Friday against Bristol-Plymouth."

The Rams were led on offense by junior attack Owen Sullivan who notched four goals and added two assists, while senior attack Will Bouley and sophomore midfielder Dave Fraser had three goals each.

Sullivan now has a team high 48 goals on the season whole Bouley is right on his heels with 47. Seeing his two top scorers step up in one of the biggest games of the season was just what Baker was hoping for.

"Both of them had great games from the wing attack," Baker said. "It is awesome to have the two of them at attack because we have the ability to breakdown defenses from either side."

Sophomore Kevin Kemp added a pair of goals for the Rams, as did Wilmington native Connor Rooney. Rooney now has 16 goals on the season.

"Connor has been having a great sophomore season. He knows the game and how it should be played," Baker said. "He has been a solid performer for us all season. He is big and strong and has great stick skills. He continues to get better each week, which is great knowing that he is around for another two seasons."

Sophomore Ryan Quinones had a strong game defensively for the Rams, while senior goalie Chris Abele of Tewksbury made 13 saves in net to pick up the win.

Abele was even better the next day in the Rams 9-4 loss to Belmont. While the Rams were unable to pick up a win against the tournament bound Marauders, Abele certainly showed that he is ready for the step up in competition that will come in the MIAA Tournament, making 21 saves to keep the Rams in the game.

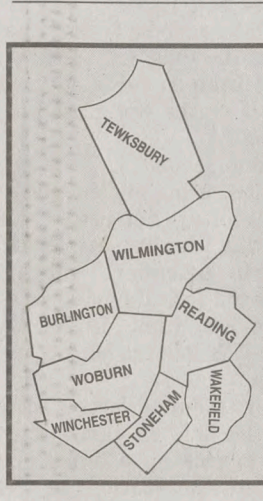

"This was the best that I have ever seen Chris play," Baker said. "He kept us in that game at points of the game. He was amazing. He can make a huge difference in the post season if he can hold the fort down like he did last Friday night."

Bouley, Kemp, Fraser and Ryan Kelly had one goal each for the Rams.

This Friday night the Rams will face another stiff test when they travel to Taunton for a 6:00 pm faceoff to take on Bristol Plymouth. The Craftsmen will bring a 16-1 record into the game, and while Baker has yet to see them play, he knows simply based on their outstanding record that the Rams will have to be at their best to win their fourth consecutive title.

The Wilmington U8 Miami Softball Team completed their 2018 season this week. Along with the Florida, Tennessee, Kansas, Georgia, and Alabama teams, there was tremendous progress made throughout the season both at the plate and in the field. The U8 Miami Team featured strong hitting from Maddi Irving, Ava Potvin, and Gianna Folger. Defensively, Krista Langone, Cait Hayes, and Kate Haggerty made several strong plays in the infield. On the bases, Lauren Smith and Jaima Potvin displayed extra effort throughout the season.

In-Town Youth Soccer Game reports

Girls Grade 2:
Houston Dash
vs. Chicago Red Stars:

Proving they were also World Cup Competitors Madeline Manning, Niamh McNeil, Abigail O'Donoghue, and Julia Navarro played excellent offense for the Houston Dash in this hard fought game. Josephine O'Mahony, Olivia Long, Lily Mehr, and Caitlin McDonough held up the defense. It was an outstanding team effort capped off with great goal keeping by Molly Kenney and Emma Allard.

Boys Grade 1:
Philadelphia Union
vs. Houston Dynamo

Nobody stayed home for this action packed game. The Philadelphia Union's Sean Marzani and David Dicenso scored, getting the crowd jumping out of their seats.

Outstanding offense by Jacob Ruzzo and Andrew Poyant set up many scoring chances. The flawless defense of Michael Belanger and Cameron Jones provided great protection for the Goal Keepers.

The Houston Dynamo were impressive on the offensive side of the ball with great skill being displayed by Cameron White and Tony Lanzi leading to goals by Michael Defilippo, Braedon Foley, John Hanson and Nate Lawrence.

The defense showcased their skills today with Benjamin Salvas and Ashton Strykowski keeping the ball out of their zone for much of the game.

Chicago Fire
vs. D.C. United

The Chicago Fire would not back down from this back and forth match. Goals by Lucas Pereira, Thomas Roofe, Jacob Schoenholtz and Nathan Ricciarelli brought the crowd to a frenzy. A spectacular display of defensive skills was shown by Benjamin Card and Matthew Roque.

In addition, the midfield play of the entire team kept constant pressure on the opponent's net.

Girls Grade 1:
NC Courage
vs. Orlando Pride

In what could have been confused as a World Cup Match, the NC Courage started off strong with great offensive pressure from Alaina Roy and Olivia Smith. Coupled with the steel-like defense of Siobhan DiCarlo and Emily Falk, their efforts made for an incredible game.

Mackenzie Casey and Olivia Howie scored goals for the NC Courage, while the Hope Solo like effort of Allaina Holaman provided solid goal-keeping to keep their team alive.

Houston Dash
vs. Orlando Pride

The Orlando Pride were impressive on the offensive side of the ball with great skill being displayed by Marley White and Lily Korpal leading to goals by Callie Lamarche, Jalyn Redmond and Julia Zaya.

The defense showcased their skills with Kaylee Chan, Mikayla Field, and Kelli Tkachuk keeping the ball out of their zone for much of the game.

Boys Kinder:
Colorado Rapids
vs. Philadelphia Union

Proving they were also World Cup Competitors, Gavin Marinho, Max Brugel, Bryce Hunter, and Julian Escobar scored for the Colorado Rapids in this hard fought game. Shourya Kadali and Lucas Lisek added the offensive punch and Maxwell Andrew anchored the defense with excellent two way support by Brugel, Hunter, and Marinho.

Houston Dynamo
vs. LA Galaxy

The crowds gathered at the Shawsheen Fields for this back and forth game. The Houston Dynamo, led by Edin Hadzic, and Calvin Lozzi, got the crowd jumping out of their seats. Kai Scalpen and Jackson Kenney led the scoring charge, while the great defensive effort of Graham Jackson and Connor Laing kept the action going.

This nail-biter led to many shots on goal, and some great steals by the speedy players Alex Card, and Calen Scribner.

Girls Kinder:
Orlando Pride
vs. NC Courage

The Orlando Pride would not back down from this back and forth match. Goals by Kyla Pereira, Sofia DeLucia, Maeve Hennigan and Alaina Wang brought the crowd to a frenzy. A spectacular display of defensive skills was shown by Sofia Gomez, Adalyn Mahoney and Olivia Downing.

Pre-K Girls Games

Harvard vs. Boston College:

In what could have been confused as a World Cup Match, the Harvard started off strong with great offensive pressure from Gisella DiGiovanni, Olivia Contarino and Raegan Nolin. Coupled with the steel-like defense of Parker Pryse, Sophia Rocco and Lily Falk, their efforts made for an incredible game.

Quinn Moulden and Brooke Spirito scored goals for the NC Courage, while the Hope Solo like effort of Tahira Lyons provided solid goal-keeping to keep their team alive.

The Wilmington Grade 3 Girls U10 team went 2-2 in this weekend's Danvers Memorial Day Soccer Tournament. Theteam includes back row from left, Coach Mark O'Donoghue, Danielle Chillemi, Aubrey Salvadore, Heidi Ferrer, Isabelle Maiella, Olivia Niceforo, Charlotte Warren, Emma Tarin, Coach Paul Maiella, Coach Nate Tarin; and front row from left, Bailey O'Connor, Madison O'Donoghue, Daniella Madore, Meg Smith and Charlotte Kiley. Boys Under 12-3 team picks up two wins

Boys 12-3
Wilmington 3, Tewksbury 1

It appeared the Wilmington boys got off to a quick start when Jack Bourque tapped in a rebound early, but the referee called the play back for an offside call. Making things worse, Tewksbury scored a few minutes later to take a 1-0 lead.

With only ten seconds remaining in the first half, Jack Bourque again tapped in a rebound of a Mick Keogan shot and this time the play was ruled onside and the teams went to the break tied at 1-1.

The Wildcats picked up their play on both sides of the ball in the second half. Lincoln Levesque got the go ahead goal off a corner kick played short by Jack to Zack Guyette who hit a great cross that Lincoln was able to put home from the back post.

A few minutes later Wilmington added an insurance goal when a blast from Jack 'Marcelo' Murphy was parried by the keeper and Jack Bourque and Casey Lanagan combined to keep the ball at the goal mouth and Casey finally pushed it over the line.

The defensive unit was anchored by center back Ryan Quamme who combined with defenders Danny O'Mahony, Kaleb Molina and Oliver Ferrer to keep a very talented Tewksbury team off the board in the second half.

Keepers Tyler Florencio and Layne Coutu were outstanding in goal not only stopping the Tewksbury shots, but quickly starting the counter attack the other way.

Wilmington 6, Woburn 3

Wilmington got off to a fast start with a goal of the season nominee. Casey Lanagan teed up Jack 'Marcelo' Murphy for a blast from outside the box that Marcelo put over the keeper's head and just under the crossbar.

A few minutes later Jackson McDonald tried to match Marcelo's quality with a Lionel Messi style free kick from 20-25 yards out that curved over the wall and into the back of the net.

Lukas Poirier and Mick Keogan dominated the middle of the field the entire game. Mick scored the next goal when he intercepted a goal kick and beat the goalie who was scrambling back to the net. Woburn then scored one to close to gap to 3-1.

Jackson added a second goal just as the first half ended on a shot from 20 yards out that skipped on the wet grass past the goalie.

In the second half, Casey kept pressuring the left side of the Woburn defense. He earned a penalty shot as the Woburn defender had no choice but to pull him down as he broke by him. He calmly put the PK into the back of the net.

A few minutes later, Casey went five-hole on a pass from Mick to pick up a brace and complete the scoring for the Wildcats.

Woburn would add a couple of late goals, but the goalkeeping tandem of Tyler Florencio and Kaleb Molina were able to hold on for the 6-3 win.
